WATER NOT SO HIGH
AS IT WAS IN 1900.

Some discussion has been indulged in concerning how the flood of the past week compared with that of October, 1900. While in the main channel of the river it was hard to distinguish any difference, still there are a few places about town where there are records that are practically infallible.

One of these is under the U. A. Horschle bakery, where the mark left by the 1900 flood is plainly visible on a partition and it is about eleven inches above the high water mark of the past week.

Another is in the basement of the MacKinnon block at the west end of the bridge. Here there is a difference of between four and five inches. In both of these places the water was comparatively quiet and the mark made may be considered reliable.

The height of the water at the stone wall near the library is not reliable as the width of the river has been changed at that point by the building of the postmill, the water being confined to a narrower channel.

George N. Wood also looked the matter up carefully as to the comparative height of the water this year and eleven years ago, taking the marks in the basement of the Wood block for his authority and he found that there was a difference of about eight inches between the high water mark this year and that of eleven years ago.

A Heart to Heart Talk.

When you are advertising to the world the fact that you are out to win, when you are pulling with might and main for new factories, when you are earnestly advocating that our present industries should be encouraged just sit down and figure out whether you are doing all in your power to build up Grand Rapids.

The Grand Rapids Steam Laundry is the only essentially local concern of its kind in the city, owned and run by people who are actual residents of Grand Rapids and who always will be such. Do you suppose this Company is getting the support it should from the people of this city. Moreover consider this: Two-thirds of the work given this laundry comes outside the city. Isn't that a strange commentary upon the loyalty of the people of Grand Rapids. As you read this figure it out for yourself, am I as loyal as I ought to be to the industries of my own city.

REILAND COMPANY HAS PLENTY OF WATER

During the past month the Reiland Packing Company has had a Milwaukee concern at their plant engaged in drilling a well thru the granite for the purpose of securing a supply of cool pure water for their plant and the indications are that they have found what they were seeking for.

Geologists tell us that one might keep right on boring thru the granite that underlies this district until the center of the earth is reached, and still it would be an impossibility to find water. It is an old saying that there are exceptions to every rule, and this may be one of the exceptions. At any rate the drillers struck water and on Friday last had reached a depth of about 235 feet. They put a pump into the hole and operated it continuously at the rate of about sixty-five gallons per minute almost continuously for twenty-four hours, the water remaining about stationary in the well.

The water is clear and cold and it is evident that there is a large supply to draw from. They feel that they have an abundance of water, but intend to go down about fifty feet more to make sure of it.

During the years they have been in operation they have drawn their water supply from a spring which did not have enough of a flow to supply their condensers properly, so that they were compelled to use the same water over several times, when it became quite warm and almost useless for the purpose intended. With the new source of supply they expect that they will have an abundance at all times.

Weddings of the Week

Douville-Braser
Miss Estella Douville and John Braser, both of this city were married at nine o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Peter and Paul Catholic church, Rev. Wm. Redding performing the ceremony. They were accompanied by Miss Genevieve Gordon, sister of the bride, and Matt Braser, brother of the groom. The happy couple left this same day for the south and upon their return will reside on the east side where they have a new home all ready for occupancy.

Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known in this city, the groom having been employed in the furniture and undertaking establishment of J. A. Rangan for a number of years past. The bride is a most estimable young lady who for a number of years past has occupied the position of bookkeeper in the store of P. S. Gill.

They have many friends here who will join with the Tribune in extending the heartiest of congratulations and wishing them a happy journey thru life.

Will-Akey.

Harold B. Will of Muscatine, Iowa, and Miss Antonetta Akey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Akey of Elron, will be married early tomorrow morning at the Catholic parsonage by Rev. J. C. Quinn. Immediately after the ceremony they will take the early Northwestern train for a week's visit at Muscatine, Iowa, after which they will visit here for several days before going to their home to live where Mr. Will holds the position of bookkeeper with the John Kaiser Lumber Co.

Krueger Seckagon.
Reinhold Krueger of Edgerton and Miss Alice Seckagon of this city were married this morning at 11 o'clock at the west side German Lutheran church by Rev. Wm. Nommensen. The bride was attended by her sister Meta Seckagon and Laura Schroeder, while Emil Huel of Edgerton and Arthur Halstrom of this city acted as groomsmen. After the wedding service a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seckagon, to a number of relatives and intimate friends. They will make their home on the west side and the Tribune wishes with their friends in extending congratulations.

Kubinski-Morziniski.
Miss Agnes Kubinski of the town of Sigel and Mr. John Morziniski of this city were married this morning at nine o'clock at the Holy Rosary Catholic church in the town of Sigel. The friends of the family will be entertained at a reception and supper at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kubinski in the town of Sigel. Mr. and Mrs. Morziniski will make their home in this city. The Tribune wishes with their many friends in extending congratulations.

Zabawa-Rucinski.
Miss Verma Zabawa, daughter of Mrs. Tillie Zabawa and Mr. Joseph Rucinski were married this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Lawrence Catholic church, Rev. Wojak officiating. Both of the young people are well known in this city and have many friends who will extend the heartiest of congratulations. They will make their home in this city.

Putting Up a Brick Store.
Miss Elsie Krieger has started the brick work on her new store and the work will be carried forward as rapidly as possible. The building will be 22x65, being located on 3rd Avenue South, across from the market square. When finished the store will have quite a favorable location.

Plans Have Arrived.
The plans as prepared by Landscape Architect Manning for the laying out and beautifying of the city have arrived and are in the possession of Earl M. Pease. The plans are quite elaborate and may be seen by consulting Mr. Pease.

M. A. Bogger is digging the foundation for a new home which he will erect on Vine street between Third and Fourth streets.

WE WILL NOT MAKE
AUTOMOBILES.

There's nothing doing in the auto business in Grand Rapids. These of us who had subscribed for a couple of hundred dollars worth of stock in the automobile factory with the expectation of living off the dividends in a princely manner the remainder of our lives will have to continue the same old grind for a time yet until we discover something new to put our money into.

The automobile business looked like the best thing in the country until these interested began to investigate it and then it did not look like such a load pipe dream as it had from a distance.

Messrs. DeGuere and Durza, who made a trip to Detroit and other places where automobiles are manufactured in large quantities and looked into the matter pretty thoroughly, and secured all the data they could on the matter and they decided that the "Crowe 30" could not be manufactured for the money that Messrs. DeGuere and Durza had represented that it could. Then there were other things that they reported unfavorably upon, so that it was decided not to go into the scheme.

The proposition as it was put up in the first place was an alluring one and had it been as represented would have been a great thing for the city.

Drowned in the Flood.

Stevens Point Journal.—Lester Ovik, who came from Wausau two weeks ago and was living near what is known as Wiley's place, about 14 miles north of the city on the Wisconsin river, was drowned at about 1:30 Sunday afternoon. With his father-in-law, Martin Vajda, and the latter's son, Anton, aged 17 years, he was out in a boat trying to head off some cattle which were in danger of drowning in the swift water. Their boat was not out in the river, but floating above what under ordinary conditions would have been their potato field. The recent flood had caused such a rise in the water level that the water was running at a rapid rate over the farm. The boat was thrown by the current over the top of a fence post, which captured the craft, and threw the occupants into the water. The father and son were able to cling to the boat, but Ovik attempted to swim to shore, with the result that he was caught by an eddy and lost his life.

Vajda and his son were in the water for over two hours, before they could get their boat near the shore, and were stiff with cold when they got out on land. The wives of both Vajda and Ovik were standing where they could see all that passed, and even waded into the water in their attempt to help, but could render no assistance.

Ovik was a Bohemian, had been married about two years, and leaves a son, aged 13 months, besides his wife. He was 25 years old. His wife and her father came to the city this afternoon in search of aid and advice, as they had somehow gotten the impression they might be prosecuted for the death of their relative. Until the water recedes farther it will be impossible to tell where the body lies, but it is thought it may be out of the river channel and will come to view as soon as the water leaves the higher land.

New London Loses Game.

The local high school team played with the boys from New London on Saturday afternoon on the high school campus and cleaned them up by a score of 18 to 0. The visitors put up a game fight and tried hard to win but they did not stand a ghost of a show.

The turnout to the game was not as large as it should have been, all the conditions considered, it being the first game of the season and the weather conditions ideal for the spectators.

Neither side seemed to be able to make much headway in backing the line, most of the gains being made by the use of the forward pass, although this play was blocked so often as to make the game slow.

There was no time when the visitors seemed to stand any particular chance of scoring, and the general verdict was that we have a good team this year.

Indian Boys Picked Up.

Three Indian boys that had run away from the Indian school at Tomah were picked up there on Monday and the next morning one of the officials from the school came here and got them. The young fellows had walked all the way from Tomah and were about all in when they reached here.

Banquet and Dance.

The Old Fellows will celebrate the completion of their new hall this evening by a banquet and dance. The banquet will be in the Old Fellows building and the dance in the Amusement hall. The public is invited to celebrate with them and it is expected that a large crowd will be present.

Coming Entertainment.

—The Strollers Musical Entertainers, one of the three attractions to be given by the Young Peoples Society, will be held at the Baptist church Oct. 17th. Course tickets $1.00. Single admission 50 cents.

Will Open a Studio.

Miss Lydia Lessig will open a ceramic studio in the Lyon block next Monday, October 16th. She will teach all kinds of china decorating and will also execute orders for art work along this line.

Notice.

Sunday, October 15th, will be the last run of Sunday trains from Grand Rapids to Green Bay and intermediate points.

BAIL WAS FIXED AT
$1500 FOR FORGER.

A man was brought to this city last week from Baraboo who claims his name is Barker, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was taken before Justice Pomarville on Monday, but an adjournment for one week was taken, bail being fixed at $1500.

A man was in this city last May who gave his name as James Moore. He went to the Central Hardware Company and bought a quantity of hardware, tendering in payment a draft for $50, and received in change $31.15. It developed afterward that the draft had been raised from $9 to $50. After getting his change the man disappeared and was not seen again until a man who was supposed to be the same person was arrested at Baraboo.

The man at Baraboo had worked the same scheme, and was arrested but upon trial was acquitted by the jury. Upon his release there he was rearrested and brought to this city. The man who obtained the local draft is a pretty smooth proposition. He is an elderly man who came to town and familiarized himself with the place, made arrangements to rent a house so that there was no question in the mind of his victim that every thing was all right.

L. M. Nash positively identified the man on Monday as being the same person who passed the raised check on him last May, but the man denied ever having seen him before. Moore, or Barker, says he is 77 years old, but does not look to have reached that age.

Dynamite Cap Exploded.

Francis, the little seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Krommenacker who live near Randolph, was badly hurt by the explosion of a dynamite cap on Sunday morning. The little fellow found a dynamite cap on the front porch of the house and with two of his brothers, one younger and another older, hunted up a couple of staves and proceeded to explode the cap. The boy's father was at work not far from the house when he heard the explosion and running over there found his boy all covered with blood. The little fellow was at once taken to Dr. Jackson's office at Randolph who dressed his wounds, which consisted of several bad cuts on the head and face and one of his thumbs badly lacerated. His right eye was hurt very badly and after his wounds were dressed he was brought to this city by Dr. Jackson and placed in the Riverside hospital where Drs. Buckle, Jackson and Pomarville performed an operation on the boy's right eye removing some small pieces of shell, and if no complications occur, they expect to save the little fellow's eye.

In talking with a representative of the Tribune on Monday Mr. Krommenacker says he cannot explain how the cap came on his place as it is something he has never kept on the farm, and thinks perhaps it was accidentally dropped out of someone's pocket who has been on his place recently.

Had a Narrow Escape.

John Lindahl of the town of Sigel had a narrow escape from death last Wednesday evening as he was leaving town for his home. He was driving a single rig and when crossing the St. Paul track on the west side his outfit was struck by the incoming passenger train. The horse had a leg broken and had to be shot to be put out of its misery, and also Mr. Lindahl was thrown to the ground but he was only slightly bruised. The train being going at full speed it is entirely probable that this would have been an ordinary instance of a narrow escape.

BIRTHS

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Crawford, Edger.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ottensberg.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lyschewick.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hazza.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Omas Saeger, Koller.

A son to Prof. O. W. Selwede and wife.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tracy.

"The Three Twins"

—"The Three Twins" will be the offering at Daly's Theatre, Monday, October 23rd. "The Three Twins" contains more musical hits than any other musical comedy. "The Yama Yama Man" has been the most talked of musical novelty in many years and Mr. Ashton Stevens of the New York Journal said it was the most "thrilling piece of stage business ever produced."

Now in Their New Store.

Gottechalk & Anderson have moved their stock of groceries into their new store on the corner of Grand and Fourth Avenues, and are now nicely located in their new quarters. They have a fine place for the purpose intended and the new building is an ornament to that part of the city.

Arrested for Holdup.

Guy Stevens was arrested last week charged with being the man who held up the Damsen saloon recently. At the examination held on Thursday an adjournment was taken for one week, bail being fixed at $1000, which was furnished. No plea was entered.

Band to Give a Dance.

The Grand Rapids band will give a dance at the Amusement hall on Friday evening, October 20th.

One carload of Apples will be here this week. 90c a bushel.

HIGH WATER CAUSES
MUCH INTEREST

The Wisconsin River at this point was hovering between the thirteen and fourteen foot mark all day Sunday, and the streets were lined with sight seers all day who visited the different points where the stage of water could be viewed to the best advantage.

One of the points of interest was near the library building where the water was near the top of the wall Sunday morning. The gradual rise during the day made it look pretty early in the morning and E. T. Bledette, whose shop is the last building toward the river, moved his stock and tools out during the day in order to be prepared for the worst. Charles Giese's saloon was next in line and he also removed his stock from the building.

Planks were put up along the top of the rotating wall, reinforced with bags of sand and also the water stopped over some during the evening and ran down the street, no damage resulted from this source.

Prof. Stamm's bath shop was inundated to the depth of several feet, so that it was necessary to move out the furniture on Saturday night. The Chambers Creamery Company was also compelled to move out anything of a perishable nature, there being several feet of water on the creamery floor. Nels Sundet's tailor shop, under Kruger & Warner's store, was flooded with water, as was also the Lander office.

All of the basements along the river were flooded, but the damage in most cases was light, as the water came up slowly until Saturday evening, and everybody had a chance to get things up out of the way. Those who depended on furnaces for heat, however, were compelled to go cold, as the water was too high to allow the burning of fuel.

One of the points of interest during Sunday was the Consolidated pack, which was flooded up to the office on one side and only a small portion of the island remained out of water. The damage to the park will undoubtedly be considerable, although the exact amount cannot be told until the water reaches a normal stage again.

The highest water is reported to have been at midnight of Sunday night when it registered at 13.3.

Probably the greatest inconvenience to the city was the fact that it was impossible to operate the electric lights on Sunday night. The water reached such a height on Monday noon that the Consolidated people were unable to operate their wheels any longer, and as the electric light company has no provisions for furnishing power outside of what they get from the Consolidated, they were helpless to do anything. The street railway company were also compelled to discontinue their service at the same time. The lack of light, however, was not felt as badly as it might have been as it was a pleasant evening and bright moonlight, and everybody was out taking in the sights.

The water had subsided a trifle on Monday morning and continued to fall slowly so that by eleven o'clock that day it had gone down enough to start the Consolidated people to align their wheels again.

The Telephone company, who secure their electricity from the Consolidated with which to store their batteries and operate the exchange, started a small gasoline engine into service and kept things going in this manner so that the service was not interrupted.

The basement of the Baptist church was flooded and considerable damage done there. This part of the church was finished with a hardwood floor, which, upon the flooding of the water, presents a bad appearance.

At the pavilion near Moomalin Creek things presented rather a wild look, there being a raging torrent between the street car track and the pavilion. The bridge over Moomalin Creek was strengthened by workmen for the street car company, the high water having caused the filling at the approaches to cave in to a considerable extent.

At Miron the river overflowed the banks of the river in several places above the dam, the water running across the road, although the damage was slight.

While there was some loss of property and damage to goods and furniture about the city, the loss was very light to what it might have been or compared with that suffered by other cities.

The spillway and gates in the dam took care of the flow of water in the river in the same way, so that the water in the pond above the dam was but little if any above normal. The farms along the lowland both above and below the city were inundated in many instances and large quantities of produce that had been left in the fields were swept away. The loss this way was more than it would have been ordinarily, as the continuous rains of the past few weeks have prevented the farmers from securing their crops.

At this writing the water has gone down to the eight foot mark and most of the basements and damaged portions of the city are again uncovered. It will take a good many dollars to repair all the damage caused by the high water, but nobody seems to be at all discouraged by the fact, the general sentiment being that we got out of it pretty lucky.

Vesper's New Paper.
Vesper's new paper, the State Center, made its appearance last week and it is a very creditable looking sheet. It is a seven column folio, two pages printed at home and is well filled with news. While we may be a trifle pessimistic, it would seem as if Vesper were a trifle small to support two newspapers.

Miss Agnes Kubisiak of the town of Sigel and Mr. John Morziński of this city were married this morning at nine o'clock at the Holy Rosary Catholic church in the town of Sigel. The friends of the family will be entertained at a reception and supper at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kubisiak in the town of Sigel. Mr. and Mrs. Morziński will make their home in this city. The Tribune unites with their many friends in extending congratulations.

Zabawa-Rucinski.
Miss Yerna Zabawa, daughter of Mrs. Tillie Zabawa and Mr. Joseph Rucinski were married this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Lawrence Catholic church, Rev. Wojak officiating. Both of the young people are well known in this city and have many friends who will extend the heartiest of congratulations. They will make their home in this city.

Putting Up a Brick Store.
Miss Elsie Krieger has started the brick work on her new store and the work will be carried forward as rapidly as possible. The building will be 22x66, being located on 3rd Avenue South, across from the market square. When finished the store will have quite a favorable location.

Plans Have Arrived.
The plans as prepared by Landscape Architect Manning for the laying out and beautifying of the city have arrived and are in the possession of Earl M. Pease. The plans are quite elaborate and may be seen by consulting Mr. Pease.

M. A. Bogogor is digging the foundation for a new house which he will erect on Vine street between Third and Fourth streets.

WE WILL NOT MAKE
AUTOMOBILES.

There's nothing doing in the auto business in Grand Rapids. Those of us who had subscribed for a couple of hundred dollars worth of stock in the automobile factory with the expectation of living off the dividends in a princely manner the remainder of our lives will have to continue the same old grind for a time yet until we discover something new to put our money into.

The automobile business looked like the best thing in the country until those interested began to investigate it and then it did not look like such a lead pipe cinch as it had from a distance.

Messrs. DeGuere and Durga, who made a trip to Detroit and other places where automobiles are manufactured in large quantities and looked into the matter pretty thoroughly, and secured all the data they could on the matter and they decided that the "Crows 30" could not be manufactured for the money that Messrs. Crowe and McIntyre had represented that it could. Then there were other things that they reported unfavorably upon, so that it was decided not to go into the scheme.

The proposition as it was put up in the first place was an alluring one and had it been as represented would have been a great thing for the city.

Drowned in the Flood.

Stevens Point Journal.—Isadore Criv, who came from Wausau two weeks ago and was living near what is known as Wiley's place, about 14 miles north of the city on the Wisconsin river, was drowned at about 4:30 Sunday afternoon. With his father-in-law, Martin Vajda, and the latter's son, Anton, aged 17 years, he was out in a boat trying to head off some cattle which were in danger of drowning in the swift water. Their boat was not out in the river, but floating above what under ordinary conditions would have been their potato field. The recent flood had caused such a rise in the water level that the water was running at a rapid rate over the farm.

This boat was thrown by the current over the top of a fence post, which capsize the craft, and threw the occupants into the water. The father and son were able to cling to the boat, but Criv attempted to swim to shore, with the result that he was caught by an eddy and lost his life. Vajda and his son were in the water for over two hours, before they could get their boat near the shore, and were stiff with cold when they got out on land. The wives of both Vajda and Criv were standing where they could see all that passed, and even waded into the water in their attempt to help, but could render no assistance.

Criv was a Bohemian, had been married about two years, and leaves a son, aged 13 months, besides his wife. He was 25 years old. His wife and her father came to the city this afternoon in search of aid and advice, as they had somehow gotten the impression they might be prosecuted for the death of their relative. Until the water recedes farther it will be impossible to tell where the body lies, but it is thought it may be out of the river channel and will come to view as soon as the water leaves the higher land.

New London Loses Game.
The local high school team played with the boys from New London on Saturday afternoon on the high school campus and cleaned them up by a score of 15 to 0. The visitors put up a game fight and tried hard to win but they did not stand a ghost of a show.

The turnout to the game was not as large as it should have been, all the conditions considered, it being the first game of the season and the weather conditions ideal for the spectators. Neither side seemed to be able to make much headway in bucking the line, most of the gains being made by the use of the forward pass, although this play was blocked so often as to make the game slow. There was no time when the visitors seemed to stand any particular chance of scoring, and the general verdict was that we have a good team this year.

Indian Boys Picked Up.
Three Indian boys that had run away from the Indian school at Tomah were picked up there on Monday and the next morning one of the officials from the school came here and walked all the way from Tomah and were about all in when they reached here.

Banquet and Dance.
The Odd Fellows will celebrate the completion of their new hall this evening by a banquet and dance. The banquet will be in the Odd Fellows building and the dance in the Amusement hall. The public is invited to celebrate with them and it is expected that a large crowd will be present.

Coming Entertainment.
The Strollers Musical Entertainers, one of the three attractions to be given by the Young Peoples Society, will be held at the Baptist church Oct. 17th. Course tickets $1.00. Single admission 50 cents.

Will Open a Studio.
Miss Lydia Lessig will open a ceramic studio in the Lyon block next Monday, October 16th. She will teach all kinds of china decorating and will also execute orders for art work along this line.

Notice.
Sunday, October 15th, will be the last run of Sunday train from Grand Rapids to Green Bay and intermediate points.

BAIL WAS FIXED AT
$1500 FOR FORGER.

A man was brought to this city last week from Baraboo who claiming his name is Barker, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was taken before Justice Pomaiville on Monday, but an adjournment for one week was taken, bail being fixed at $1500.

A man was in this city last May who gave his name as James Moore. He went to the Central Hardware Company and bought a quantity of hardware, tendering in payment a draft for $90, and received in change $31.15. It developed afterward that the draft had been raised from $9 to $90. After getting his change the man disappeared and was not seen again until a man who was supposed to be the same person was arrested at Baraboo.

The man at Baraboo had worked the same scheme, and was arrested but upon trial was acquitted by the jury. Upon his release there he was rearrested and brought to this city. The man who skinned the local firm is a pretty smooth proposition. He is an elderly man who came to town and familiarized himself with the place, made arrangements to rent a house so that there was no question in the mind of his victim that everything was all right.

L. M. Nash positively identified the man on Monday as being the same person who passed the raised check on him last May, but the man denied ever having seen him before. Moore, or Barker, says he is 77 years old, but does not look to have reached that age.

Dynamite Cap Exploded.

Francis, the little seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Krommenakker who live near Rudolph, was badly hurt by the explosion of a dynamite cap on Sunday morning. The little fellow found a dynamite cap on the front porch of the house and with two of his brothers, one younger and another older, hunted up a couple of stones and proceeded to explode the cap. The boy's father was at work not far from the house when he heard the explosion and running over there found his boy all covered with blood. The little fellow was at once taken to Dr. Jackson's office at Rudolph who dressed his wounds, which consisted of several bad cuts on the head and face and one of his thumbs badly lacerated. His right eye was hurt very badly and after his wounds were dressed he was brought to this city by Dr. Jackson and placed in the Riverview hospital where Dr. Ruckle, Jackson and Pomaiville performed an operation on the boy's right eye removing some small pieces of shell, and if no complications occur, they expect to save the little fellow's eye. In talking with a representative of the Tribune on Monday Mr. Krommenakker says he cannot explain how the cap came on his place as it is something he has never kept on the farm, and thinks perhaps it was accidentally dropped out of someone's pocket who has been on his place recently.

Had a Narrow Escape.
John Lindahl of the town of Sigel had a narrow escape from death last Wednesday evening as he was leaving town for his home. He was driving a single rig and when crossing the St. Paul track on the west side his outfit was struck by the incoming passenger train. The horse had a leg broken and had to be shot to be put out of its misery, and Alphonse Mr. Lindahl was thrown to the ground and was only slightly bruised. Had the train been going at full speed it is entirely probable that this would have been an obituary instead of a notice of a narrow escape.

BIRTHS
A son to Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Crawford, Edger.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ottenborg.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lysechwick.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hazzia.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ohas. Swager, Kellner.

A son to Prof. O. W. Schwede and wife.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tracy.

"The Three Twins"
"The Three Twins" will be the offering at Daly's Theatre, Monday, October 23rd. "The Three Twins" contains more musical hits than any other musical comedy. "The Yama Yama Man" has been the most talked of musical novelty in many years and Mr. Ashton Stevens of the New York Journal said it was the most "titillating piece of stage business ever produced."

Now in Their New Store.
Gottschalk & Anderson have moved their stock of groceries into their new store on the corner of Grand and Fourth Avenues, and are now nicely located in their new quarters. There have a fine place for the purpose intended and the new building is an ornament to that part of the city.

Arrested for Holdup.
Guy Stevens was arrested last week charged with being the man who held up the Damon saloon recently. At the examination held on Thursday an adjournment was taken for one week, bail being fixed at $1000, which was furnished. No plea was entered.

Band to Give a Dance.
The Grand Rapids band will give a dance at the Amusement hall on Friday evening, October 20th.

One carload of Apples will be here this week. 90c a bushel.
JOHNSON & HILL CO.

Vesper's New Paper.
Vesper's new paper, the State Center, made its appearance last week and it is a very creditable looking sheet. It is a seven column folio, two pages printed at home and is well filled with news. While we may be a trifle pessimistic, it would seem as if Vesper were a trifle small to support two newspapers.

HIGH WATER CAUSES
MUCH INTEREST

The Wisconsin River at this point was hovering between the thirteenth and fourteenth foot mark all day Sunday, and the streets were lined with sight seers all day who visited the different points where the stage of water could be viewed to the best advantage.

One of the points of interest was near the library building where the water was near the top of the wall Sunday morning. The gradual rise during the day made it look pretty early in that locality and E. T. Bodotta, whose shop is the last building toward the river, moved his stock and tools out during the day in order to be prepared for the worst. Charles Glesco's saloon was next in line and he also removed his stock from the building.

Planks were put up along the top of the rotating wall, reinforced with bags of sand and also the water sloped over some during the evening and ran down the street, no damage resulted from this source.

Fred Stamm's barber shop was inundated to the depth of several feet, so that it was necessary to move out the furniture on Saturday night. The Chambers Grocery Company was also compelled to move out anything of a perishable nature, there being several feet of water on the grocery floor. Nels Sundet's tailor shop, under Kruger & Warner's store, was flooded with water, as was also the Lander office.

All of the basements along the river were flooded, but the damage in most cases was light, as the water came up slowly until Saturday evening, and everybody had a chance to get things up out of the way. Those who depended on furnaces for heat, however, were compelled to go cold, as the water was too high to allow the building of fires.

One of the points of interest during Sunday was the Consolidated park, which was flooded up to the office on one side and only a small portion of the island remained out of water. The damage to the park will undoubtedly be considerable, although the exact amount cannot be told until the water reaches a normal stage again.

The highest water is reported to have been at midnight on Sunday night when it registered at 13.2.

Probably the greatest inconvenience to the city was the fact that it was impossible to operate the electric lights on Sunday night. The water reached such a height on Sunday noon that the Consolidated people were unable to operate their wheels any longer, and as the electric light company has no provisions for furnishing power outside of what they get from the Consolidated, they were helpless to do anything. The street railway company were also compelled to discontinue their service at the same time. The lack of light, however, was not felt as badly as it might have been as it was a pleasant evening and bright moonlight, and everybody was out taking in the sights.

The water had subsided a trifle on Monday morning and continued to fall slowly so that by eleven o'clock that day it had gone down enough to allow the Consolidated people to start their wheels again.

The Telephone company, who secure their electricity from the Consolidated with which to store their batteries and operate the exchange, pressed a small gasoline engine into service and kept things going in this manner so that the service was not interrupted.

The basement of the Baptist church was flooded and considerable damage done there. This part of the church was finished with a hardwood floor, which, since the flooding of the water, presents a bad appearance.

At the pavilion near Moonasin Creek things presented rather a bad look, there being a raging torrent between the street car track and the pavilion. The bridge over Moonasin Creek was strengthened by workmen for the street car company, the high water having caused the filling at the approaches to cave in to a considerable extent.

At Biron the river overflowed the banks of the river in several places above the dam, the water running across the road, although the damage was slight.

While there was some loss of property and damage to goods and furniture about the city, the loss was very light to what it might have been or compared with that suffered by other cities.

The spillway and gates in the dam took care of the flow of water in the river in fine shape, so that the water in the pond above the dam was but little if any above normal. The farms along the lowland both above and below the city were inundated in many instances and large quantities of produce that had been left in the fields were swept away. The loss this way was more than it would have been ordinarily, as the continuous rains of the past few weeks have prevented the farmers from securing their crops.

At this writing the water has gone down to the eight foot mark and most of the basements and damaged portions of the city are again uncovered. It will take a good many dollars to repair all the damage caused by the high water, but nobody seems to be at all discouraged by the fact, the general sentiment being that we got out of it pretty lucky.

To Supply Anti-Typhoid Vaccine Free.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—Anti-typhoid vaccine will be supplied to Wisconsin physicians free of charge by the state hygienic laboratory at the University of Wisconsin, beginning December 1, according to the announcement just made by Dr. H. P. Ravenel, head of the department of bacteriology at the state university and director of the laboratory.

When the vaccine is ready for distribution at that time full directions for its use will be issued, and the conditions being that the requests must come from registered physicians in Wisconsin, and that each physician agree to make a report of the results to the laboratory.

To prevent the spread of typhoid it is recommended that where one case of typhoid fever occurs in a family, the other members be vaccinated promptly. In the distribution of the vaccine the authorities of the hygienic laboratory desire to secure the cooperation of physicians generally, and with that end in view are requesting that suggestions be made by practicing physicians before the distribution begins, December 1.

The decision of the director of the hygienic laboratory to furnish anti-typhoid vaccine grows out of the success which has attended its use in the United States army, where the results have been so striking that the Secretary of War, acting on the advice of the Surgeon General, has made anti-typhoid vaccination compulsory for all officers and enlisted men under 45 years of age. Before it was made compulsory, 17,000 officers and enlisted men had been vaccinated voluntarily. During the recent mobilization of troops in Texas, when the men were in camp for more than two months, under war conditions, only one case of typhoid resulted, that of a transient who had not been vaccinated. This was in striking contrast to the Spanish-American war when within a period of three and one-half months there were 20,000 cases with 1,680 deaths.

Deadly Headache Powders.

A bulletin recently issued by the state board of health contains the following:

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture states that, "the number of deaths from the use of headache powder is steadily increasing in this country. Hardly a day passes that I do not receive from some part of the country the report of a death from taking headache powder. Every such preparation sold contains large quantities of either acetanilid, phenacetin, antipyrin, or caffeine, all of which affect the heart more or less. No physician would think of prescribing more than one or two grains of these drugs, but the headache powders contain from four to six grains. Many people afflicted with headache get accustomed to taking these powders for relief. If I had my way the sale of these powders would be prohibited. They are poisonous to a person with a weak heart and are likely to result in death at any time. Most of these powders are sold with instructions to take a second dose 'in case relief is not immediate. No physician would give such drugs with these instructions."

Urges Winter Wheat for Wisconsin Farmers.

In order to renew interest in winter wheat growing in Wisconsin, well bred seed wheat is being distributed to farmers from three hundred centers in the state by the department of agronomy of the University of Wisconsin. The general plans followed for growing pedigree grains of other kinds are being used for wheat. Each farmer is furnished with about one and a half bushels of seed wheat which he plants on an acre and the produce of which he sells for seed the following season. About 200 bushels of seed wheat will be distributed this season. The most successful variety has been the Belle Glorie. The first seed wheat was sent out a year ago. Winter wheat now yields from thirty to thirty-six bushels per acre in Wisconsin. In the early days of the state plenty of wheat was grown but with reduced yields and thousands of insect pests wheat cultivation gradually declined. Spring wheat on the wheat now grown in Wisconsin is spring wheat but winter varieties are good yielders and are to be recommended.

GOVERNMENT LAND OPENING 3,000 HOMESTEADS OPEN TO SETTLEMENT

ASSESSOR OF INCOMES A NEW OFFICE

The tax commission has completed the division of the state into assessment districts under the new income tax law and fixed the salary of the assessor to be appointed for each district. The state is divided into forty districts consisting of one, two and three counties in each district. The law provides that no district shall consist of less than one county and the commission has not combined more than three counties in any one district. All the more populous and wealthy counties constitute single districts.

Under the law the office of supervisor of assessments, which is held in this county by Nash Mitchell, will be abolished after the first of January next, and the duties pertaining to that position will thereafter be performed by the assessor of incomes. Statistics compiled in that office show that the expense of supervisors of assessments throughout the state has been approximately $60,000 per year, and the salaries fixed for the assessors of incomes do not exceed that amount, but they will be allowed their expenses in addition.

The salaries of assessors of incomes range from $800 in some of the sparsely settled districts to $3,000 in the city of Milwaukee. The districts generally range from $1,000 to $1,500. Naturally those districts having large manufacturing and commercial interests pay the highest salaries.

Civil service examinations for the position of income tax assessors will be held Nov. 11, and it is expected that a large number of candidates will take the examination.

Some of the districts for this part of the state are as follows: Twenty-sixth district, Portage and Wood counties, salary $1,200; thirty-first district, Marathon county, salary $1,200; eighteenth district, Adams and Janes counties, salary $800; nineteenth district, Green Lake, Marquette and Waushara, salary $1,200; twenty-fifth district, Outagamie and Waupesa, $1,200; twenty-fourth district, Forest, Oneida and Vilas, $800.

We have a number of men here who are well qualified to discharge the duties of the position and as the salary of $1,200 a year, and expenses is not a bad one, it is hoped that some of our local men will take the civil service examination and get the office, if they can. Presumably the position will be given to a resident of Portage or Wood county if the civil service examination develops any one living within their borders who is competent to discharge its duties—at least it seems as if that should be the policy to be adopted by the income tax commission.

The Income Tax Law.

Under the income tax law, "there shall be assessed, levied and collected a paid tax upon incomes received during the year ending Dec. 31, 1911, and on incomes received annually thereafter by each person and from such sources as hereinafter described." The income taxable include:

1. All real and personal property, including the estimated rental of real estate property occupied by the owner.
2. All interest derived by notes, mortgages, bonds and other evidences of debt or money loaned.
3. All salaries or fees derived for services, etc.
4. The dividends or profits derived from stock, or from purchase and sale of any property or other valuables acquired within three years previous, or from any business whatsoever.

From these come certain exemptions, as stocks and bonds of corporations that pay tax direct to the state or where the corporation pays an income tax.

Exemptions allowed from net incomes: $800 for single persons, $1,200 for man and wife and $200 for each child under 18. Earnings in family occupied in making amount. From the income tax is offset any personal property, tax paid.

From the above it is evident that many persons will be required to keep a book account of their receipts and expenditures.

REMINGTON

Miss Agnes Keenan, teacher in District No. 2, attended the Institute held at Grand Rapids last Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Igowski and family of Milwaukee have moved on their farm here formerly known as the Sarrick place. He has bought the cheese factory building. It is his intention to make it into a dwelling house.

Mrs. Helen Lowe visited relatives at Tomah the latter part of last week. The many friends of Mrs. Edward Warren will be sorry to learn that she is very low with cancer of the liver with little hopes of recovery. She is sick at her daughter's home, Mrs. Nugget at Merrill.

Miss Queen Warren was called to Merrill last week owing to her mother's serious illness.

Miss Harriet Brest has returned to Menomonie to school. Lambert Brest will attend school later.

C. S. Lowe has been laid up with rheumatism for some time but is somewhat better at this writing.

Robt. Saenger of Grand Rapids and Adolph Saenger of Neokosa, visited at the parental home here the fore part of last week.

C. S. Lowe is home from Kellner where he has been traveling. He says it is impossible to do much work owing to our constant heavy rains which leaves the grain in such poor condition to thresh.

Chas. Saenger visited relatives at Neokosa Saturday and Sunday, returning home on Monday.

J. Hineshaw of Valley Junction visited at the Lowe home Sunday and Monday. Mr. Hineshaw intends to move his family back here on the Olson farm in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Haas entertained relatives from Milwaukee last week. Services were held at the Catholic church at Babcock last Sunday, Oct. 1. The next divine services will be held Oct. 11.

Joseph James is very low with cancer of the stomach and his death is expected at any moment.

NEKOOSA

(From the Times)

The Times man thought he had seen some big radishes, and last week when we reported that Mrs. Orl Nelson had brought to the Times office a Black Spanish winter radish, weighing 4 lbs. and 8 ozs., accompanied by two others that weighed a little less, each, we were thought we had reached the same of radish production. But let behold, we have here another and larger radish. This time the huge vegetable comes from the town of Port Edwards. On Monday Fred Horns, of the town of Port Edwards brought to Neokosa two radishes of the Black Spanish winter variety that certainly are the limit. One weighed six pounds and one ounce, while the larger one weighed twelve lbs., seven ounces. And what do you know about that? Fred's parting words were "Tell your 937, 938 readers that the town of Port Edwards can beat the town of Armadillo raising big radishes." (We don't know anything about that—all we can swear to is the 937,938 readers.)

Pelix Borard, accompanied by his attorney, Henry E. Pith, went to Chicago Friday night, where on Saturday, they closed up the deal by which Mr. Borard transferred his farm in the town of Rome to parties living in Chicago. Felix will remain a citizen of Neokosa, vicinity for some time yet, making his home with his mother on the old home place west of town.

A large number of members of Knights of Columbus attended the regular meeting of Grand Rapids lodge Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served and a royal good time was enjoyed by all present.

PITTSVILLE

(From the Record.)

Mr. Morray, who recently purchased the Frank Hindrichsen farm, north of the city, arrived Thursday and unloaded his goods from the car. He was kicked in the breast and stomach by a new horse he had purchased before arriving here while feeding it at the Elm Park barn the same evening. He had the wind pretty well knocked out of him for the space of a few minutes and it was a half an hour before he was himself again.

Paul Dahms has finished his mining business at Vedum and is at present sawing shingles at the Lehmier mill northwest of the city. When finished here he intends to ship his machinery to Bismarck, Michigan, where he will again enter the saw mill business.

It will be a month yet before he is ready to move to the northern point.

The wedding of John Bolmaak and Miss Martina Swatzke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swatzke, of the town of Hansen, takes place tomorrow at the home of the bride's parents at 11 o'clock in the morning. The groom is a son of Peter Bolmaak, of the town of Seneca and is a union by trade. Both the young people are well and favorably known in the districts where they reside and the Record bespeaks a happy wedded life.

Joseph James died at his home about eight miles southwest of the city Sunday night of cancer of the stomach. He has been an invalid for the past three months; much of this time he has been unable to leave his bed.

ARPIN

Mrs. C. W. Blonett visited over Sunday with Matchless friends.

Mrs. Geo. Lewis was a Grand Rapids visitor Saturday.

Miss Mary LaVigne visited over Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dingeldien.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Berg of Auburndale called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haase are the happy parents of a baby boy born Monday, October 2nd.

Mrs. Bert Bauman was a Grand Rapids caller Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Benz are rejoicing over the arrival of a son.

On Friday evening, October 13, the R. N. A. of Arpin will give a basket social at the hall. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and bring baskets. The evening will be spent in dancing, etc. Don't forget the date.

Dr. W. E. Allen of Auburndale was in this vicinity Monday attending Mrs. A. J. Cowell who is in very poor health.

Rev. F. H. Brown preached an interesting sermon Sunday morning. Services every Sunday now at 10:30 a. m., Sunday school to be held after services.

Mr. Clark, representing the Kent Manufacturing Co. of Port Atkinson, called on A. J. Cowell Friday, returning to his home Saturday.

Mrs. Welch, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Winebrenner of Auburndale, visited a few days the past week at the Roehrig home.

Mrs. George Gardner is visiting with friends in Milwaukee for an indefinite time.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving and Some Grand Rapids People Know How to Save It.

Many Grand Rapids people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when most all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly relieved by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

E. A. Lindner, of Plainfield, Wis., says: "Three years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney complaint and backache. I received relief. There has been no serious recurrence of the complaint, and consequently I have no hesitation in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills. I take this remedy occasionally and it always has a beneficial effect."

VESPER

(From the State Center.)

Owing to the recent heavy rains, Hamlock Creek has been on a rampage and on Tuesday night took out a portion of the dam and completely demolished the Johnson & Gardlaw saw mill. The east wing of the dam was weak from being checked by frost and about three feet of the wall for a distance of twelve feet toppled over turning a huge volume of water onto the mill. The saw arbor and carriage were completely undermined and washed from their settings. The engine and boiler withstood the frothing, but the expenses of repairing the dam and resetting the saw mill will amount to about $500. A boom was stretched across the creek at the wagon bridge, to keep logs and stumps from lodging on the dam.

The Vesper Brick and Tile Co. have the basement excavated for the Phillip Goss store building just south of the bank. Owing to the recent heavy rains it has been almost impossible to make any progress in the building line. The building will be solid brick 30x40 feet, two stories and basement. The second floor will have two offices in front and the remainder will be used for living rooms at present. The building will be occupied as soon as completed.

The brick work on Heasler's new building is progressing rapidly. The building will be solid brick, 23x40 two stories and basement. The store building will be used for a restaurant and home bakery and the new telephone exchange, while the second story will be fitted up for a modern flat.

Miss Annie Oshamley, stenographer for the Vesper Wood Mfg. Co., started Monday on a month's vacation. She is spending this week in Grand Rapids. Miss Oshamley is a very efficient stenographer and during her employment with the Wood Mfg. Co. has handled an exceptionally large correspondence.

P. E. Margatroyd traded the Martin Littera Carrier factory building this week to a party from Oconomowoc for a Page-Detroit touring car. It is intimated that the party who purchased the factory building will put in an auto garage next season.

MEEHAN

Mrs. J. Clondinning has been sick and under the care of a physician for a few days being threatened with pneumonia.

Arthur Hawley of Stevens Point was a business caller here one day last week.

Byron Ward and family moved here last week from Stevens Point. He has steady employment here and the change makes it more convenient for him.

Orlin Clondinning finished threshing last week. He has had a long run of work in a good country of good grain.

Many are through digging potatoes now and nearly all will finish here this week. The crop is averaging from 100 to 175 bushels per acre, the best for many years.

Our school closed last week for a month's vacation. Will begin next term Nov. 6th.

Fred Jinks of your city has been here the last two weeks being employed in the potato fields.

The high water of the Wisconsin river has caused much damage at this point. Many acres of excellent potatoes have been flooded, fields of corn have been washed away and those living on the low lands have suffered the loss of valuable gardens and small buildings have been overturned and carried away by the flood. The high banks were covered with small game which were driven from the low land by the water.

WHAT JULIUS NELSON SAYS ABOUT ALFALFA.

In the spring of 1907 I made up my mind that I would try to raise some alfalfa, and thinking I might be able to get the seed from one of our local dealers I went to the store of Johnson & Hill company to look the matter up. I was not disappointed for I found what I was looking for, altho Mr. Kruger told me that it was not much use to sow it, but that they kept it in case anybody wanted to buy it.

I had a piece of rye in which I intended to sow it, and in order not to have the land go to waste entirely I mixed some timothy and clover with the alfalfa seed, as I was sure that the timothy and clover would grow even if the alfalfa went back on me. After sowing, it was dragged in with a light drag, and the alfalfa grew all right and have been cutting it every year since.

I have seen in the papers that one has to have inoculated soil in order to raise alfalfa, but we do not have to have that here. The bunch which I brought in to the Tribune office will show that, and it is the second crop this year. In fact we can grow anything in Wisconsin that will grow in other states.

Twenty-four years ago I started out to see Washington, Oregon and some of the other western states. I had heard a lot of talk about the western country; big wages and lots of work, good soil and many other advantages not possessed by the state of Wisconsin. When I got there I found things were different from what they had been presented. About all the work a man could get was firewood or four months in the year and the rest of the time it was raining. And the land there was not any better than here, so I could not find anything to brag about. There were hard times out there those days, and here also, but a man could find work here the year round. To be sure the farmers here sold their butter for eight cents a pound and bought wagon grease for twelve cents a pound, but now the farmers get 30 cents or more a pound for their butter.

Eleven years ago I made a trip to Oklahoma to see that section of the country, as I had heard a great deal about it. They told us that the grass there reached to a man's shoulders, but they neglected to state that the man was standing on his head when the grass was measured. When I reached there I found that it was a dry year and the grass was not growing as rank and tall as it was when the stories were told about the country. Still we had a dry summer here that year and yet the timothy reached to a man's shoulders here, and he did not have to stand on his head, either. So I came to the conclusion that the soil in Wisconsin is just as good as it is anywhere.

Last summer was a dry one, as bad as we have ever had, and the farmers were all saying that it would be impossible to get feed to carry them through the winter. And yet when fall came they managed to pick up enough to carry them through and some of them had a little left in the spring, with their cattle in good shape.

This summer some of the farmers were kicking on the wet worms which were killing the grass, and some of them were of the opinion that they would get nothing for their summer's work. But I think that the wet worms were a good thing, for in looking thru the country we can see millet fields that out from three to four tons to the acre and corn fields where the stalks stand from four to ten feet high, which we would not see if the wet worms had not got in. Some of the fields had been lying in hay meadows for 20 years or more and it was about time to do something.

I have read in the papers about the rush to the western country to take up land which could be gotten for two to six dollars an acre, and then run chances of not getting it. Then if they did get it they had to be tied down for five years before they could get a deed of the property. I know of a man living right here in Grand Rapids who has over three thousand acres of as fine land as a man wants to look at, and it can be bought for from $10.00 to $15.00 an acre and get a deed of it right away, and it has enough timber on it to build a house and barns, and it is only five hours drive by team from Grand Rapids, so at that rate it seems to me that it is better to stay right here in Wisconsin.

Yours truly
Julius Nelson.

Oct. 4. State of Wisconsin, Wood County in County Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of William P. Sydnor, deceased.
Upon reading and filing the application of Hugo Snyder, administrator of the estate of said William P. Sydnor, deceased, for the adjustment and allowance of his account as administrator and the assignment of the residue of said estate to said Hugo Snyder, as administrator, it is ordered that the said account be examined and the residue of said estate be paid to said Hugo Snyder, as administrator, on the 15th day of November, 1911 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

It is further ordered that upon the adjournment and allowance of such account by this court the residue of said estate be paid to said Hugo Snyder, as administrator, by the further order and judgment of the court and that such order be given by law clerk to the said Hugo Snyder.

It is further ordered that notice of this and of the examination and allowance of such account and of the assignment of the residue of said estate be given to all persons interested by publication of this order for three successive weeks before said day in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a weekly newspaper printed and published in the city of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Couldn't Sell His Place

Frequently you hear of a man who had a sale of his property about completed when some defect was found in the title and the buyer wouldn't take property.

An Abstract of Title is a complete history of the transfers of property by deeds and mortgages from the time of the Government ownership. An Abstract of Title will show whether the title to any particular piece of property is good, or whether mistakes exist in the drawing of the papers or whether or not there are any breaks in the title.

Get an Abstract of Title to your property, have it examined by a competent attorney, and if any mistakes or breaks exist, have them perfected so you can sell without any delay.

medical inspection in schools has already been vindicated even in the short time the schools have been running. Four cases of scarlet fever in a single month have been discovered by the medical authorities among the pupils of the public schools. With-

To Supply Anti-Typhoid Vaccine Free.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—Anti-typhoid vaccine will be applied to Wisconsin physicians free of charge by the state hygiene laboratory at the University of Wisconsin, beginning December 1, according to the announcement made by Dr. H. P. Rayner, head of the department of bacteriology at the state university and director of the laboratory.

When the vaccine is ready for distribution at that time full directions for its use will be issued, the only conditions being that the requests must come from registered physicians in Wisconsin, and that each physician agree to make a report of the results to the laboratory.

To prevent the spread of typhoid it is recommended that where one case of typhoid fever occurs in a family, the other members be vaccinated promptly. In the distribution of the vaccine the authorities of the hygiene laboratory desire to secure the cooperation of physicians generally, and with that end in view are requesting that suggestions be made by practicing physicians before the distribution begins, December 1.

The decision of the director of the hygiene laboratory to furnish anti-typhoid vaccine grows out of the success which has attended its use in the United States army, where the results have been so striking that the Secretary of War, acting on the advice of the Surgeon General, has made anti-typhoid vaccination compulsory for all officers and enlisted men under 45 years of age. Before it was made compulsory, 17,000 officers and enlisted men had been vaccinated voluntarily. During the recent mobilization of troops in Texas, when the men were in camp for more than two months, minor war conditions, only one case of typhoid resulted, that of a recruit who had not been vaccinated. This was in striking contrast to the Spanish-American war when within a period of three and one-half months there were 20,000 cases with 1,500 deaths.

Deadly Headache Powders.
A bulletin recently issued by the state board of health contains the following:
Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture states that: "The number of deaths from the use of headache powder is steadily increasing in this country. Hardly a day passes that I do not receive from some part of the country the report of a death from taking headache powder. Every such preparation sold contains large quantities of other acetanilid, phenacetin, antipyrin, or caffeine, all of which affect the heart more or less. No physician would think of prescribing more than one or two grains of these drugs, but the headache powders contain from four to six grains. Many people afflicted with headache get accustomed to taking these powders for relief. If I had my way the sale of these powders would be prohibited. They are poisonous to a person with a weak heart and are likely to result in death at any time. Most of these powders are sold with instructions to take a second dose in case relief is not immediate. No physician would give such drugs with these instructions."

Urges Winter Wheat for Wisconsin Farms.
In order to renew interest in winter wheat growing in Wisconsin, well bred wheat is being distributed to farmers from three hundred centers in the state by the department of agronomy of the University of Wisconsin. The general plans followed for growing pedigree grains of other kinds are being used for wheat. Each farmer is furnished with about one and a half bushels of seed wheat which he plants on an acre and the produce of which he sells for seed the following season. About 200 bushels of seed wheat will be distributed this season. The most successful variety has been the Hello Gloster. The first seed wheat was sent out a year ago. Winter wheat now yields from thirty to thirty-six bushels per acre in Wisconsin. In the early days of the state plenty of wheat was grown but with reduced yields and increase of insect pests wheat cultivation gradually declined. Spring wheat can also be grown successfully in the state. In fact, about two-thirds of the wheat now grown in Wisconsin is spring wheat but winter varieties are good yielders and are to be recommended.

NEKOOSA (From the Times.)
The Times man thought he had seen some big radish, and last week when he reported that Mrs. Oat Nelson had brought in the Times radish, a Black Spanish winter radish, weighing 4 lbs. and 8 oz., accompanied by two others that weighed a little less, each, we were thought we had reached the home of radish production. But for Nelson, we have here another and larger radish. This time the huge vegetable comes from the town of Port Edwards. On Monday, Frank Horan, of the town of Port Edwards, brought to Nekoosa two radishes of the Black Spanish winter variety that certainly are the limit. One weighed six pounds and one ounce, while the larger one weighed twelve lbs. seven ounces. And what do you know about that? Fred's parting words were: "Tell your 507, 218 readers that the town of Port Edwards can beat the town of Armau in raising big radishes." (We don't know anything about that—unless we can swear to be the 507, 218 readers.)

Folk Horan, accompanied by his attorney, Henry E. Peltz, went to Chicago Friday night, where on Saturday, they closed up the deal by which Mr. Horan transferred his farm in the town of Home to parties living in Chicago. Folk will remain a citizen of Nekoosa, but for some time yet, making his home with his mother on the old home place west of town.

A large number of members of Knights of Columbus attended the regular meeting of Grand Rapids Lodge Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served and a royal good time was enjoyed by all present.

PITTSVILLE (From the Record.)
Mr. Morris, who recently purchased the Frank Henderson farm, north of the city, arrived Thursday and unloaded his goods from the car. He was killed in the breast and stomach by a cow horse he had purchased before arriving here while feeding it at the Elm Park farm the same evening. He had the wheel partly knocked out of him for the space of a few minutes and it was a half an hour before he was himself again.

Paul Dahms has finished his building business at Vandon and is at present sawing shingles at the Leland mill northwest of the city. When finished here he intends to ship his machinery to Balsam, Michigan, where he will again enter the saw mill business. It will be a month yet before he is ready to move to the northern point.

The wedding of John Dahm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Swartzko, of the town of Hanson, takes place tomorrow at the home of the bride's parents at 11 o'clock in the morning. The groom is a son of Peter Dahm, of the town of Hanson, and is a man of good trade. Both the young people are well and favorably known in the districts where they reside and the Record suspects a happy wedding.

Joseph James died at his home about eight miles southwest of the city Sunday night of cancer of the stomach. He has been an invalid for the past three months; much of this time he has been unable to leave his bed.

ARPIN
Mrs. C. W. Stuart visited over Sunday with Marshallfield friends.

Mrs. Geo. Lewis was a Grand Rapids visitor Saturday.

Miss Mary LaVigne visited over Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dingeldien.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Berg of Auburnville called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred House are the happy parents of a baby boy born Monday, October 2nd.

Mrs. Bert Hamilton was a Grand Rapids visitor Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vm. Benz are rejoicing over the arrival of a son.

On Friday evening, October 13, the R. N. A. of Arpin will give a basket social at the hall. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and bring tickets. The evening will be spent in dancing, etc. Don't forget the date.

Dr. W. E. Allen of Auburnville was in this vicinity Monday attending Mrs. A. J. Cowell who is in very poor health.

Rev. F. H. Brown preached an interesting sermon Sunday morning. Services over Sunday now at 10:30 a. m., Sunday school to be held after services.

Mr. Clark, representing the Kent Manufacturing Co. of Port Arthur, called on A. J. Cowell Friday, returning to his home Saturday.

Mrs. Welch, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Winebrenner of Auburnville, visited a few days the past week at the Roeding house.

Mrs. George Gardner is visiting with friends in Milwaukee for an indefinite time.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.
Health's Worth Saving and Some Grand Rapids People Know How to Save It.
—Many Grand Rapids people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when most all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly relieved by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

E. A. Lindner, of Plainfield, Wis., says: "Three years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney complaint and backache and I received relief. There has been no serious recurrence of the complaint and consequently, I have no hesitation in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills. I take this remedy occasionally and it always has a beneficial effect."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

WHAT JULIUS NELSON SAYS ABOUT ALFAFA.
(From the State Center.)
In the spring of 1907 I made up my mind that I would try to raise some alfalfa, and thinking I might be able to get the seed from one of our local dealers I went to the store of Johnson & Hill company to look the matter up. I was not disappointed for I found what I was looking for, although Mr. Kruger told me that it was not much use to sow it, but that they kept it in case anybody wanted to buy it.

I had a piece of rye in which I intended to sow it, and in order not to have the land go to waste entirely I mixed some timothy and clover with the alfalfa seed, as I was sure that the timothy and clover would grow even if the alfalfa went back on me. After sowing, it was dragged in with a light drag, and the alfalfa grew all right and have been cutting it every year since.

I have seen in the papers that one has to have inoculated soil in order to raise alfalfa, but we do not have to have that here. The bunch which I brought in to the Tribune office will show that, and it is the second crop this year. In fact we can grow anything in Wisconsin that will grow in other states.

Twenty-four years ago I started out to see Washington, Oregon and some of the other western states. I had heard a lot of talk about the western country; big wages and lots of work, good soil and many other advantages not possessed by the state of Wisconsin. When I got there I found things were different from what they had been presented. About all the work a man could get was wages or four months in the year and the rest of the time it was raining. And the land there was not any better than here, so I could not find anything to brag about. There were hard times out there those days, and here also, but a man could find work here the year round. To be sure the farmers here sold their butter for eight cents a pound and bought wagon grease for twelve cents a pound, but now the farmers get 30 cents or more a pound for their butter.

Eleven years ago I made a trip to Oklahoma to see that section of the country, as I had heard a great deal about it. They told us that the grass there reached to a man's shoulders, but they neglected to state that the man was standing on his head when the grass was measured. When I reached there I found that it was a dry year and the grass was not growing as rank and tall as it was when the stories were told about the country. Still we had a dry summer here that year and yet the timothy reached to a man's shoulders here, and he did not have to stand on his head, either. So I came to the conclusion that the soil in Wisconsin is just as good as it is anywhere.

Last summer was a dry one, as had as we have ever had, and the farmers were all saying that it would be impossible to get feed to carry them through the winter. And yet when fall came they managed to pick up enough to carry them thru and some of them had a little left in the spring, with their cattle in good shape.

This summer some of the farmers were kicking on the cut worms which were killing the grass, and some of them were of the opinion that they would get nothing for their summer's work. But I think that the cut worms were a good thing, for in looking thru the country we can see millik fields that cut from three to four tons to the acre and corn fields where the stalks stand from four to ten feet high, which we would not see if the cut worms had not got in. Some of the fields had been laying in hay meadows for 20 years or more and it was about time to do something.

I have read in the papers about the rust to the western country to take up land which could be gotten for two to six dollars an acre, and then run chances of not getting it. Then if they did get it they had to be glad down for five years before they could get a deed of the property. I know of a man living right here in Grand Rapids who has over three thousand acres of as fine land as a man wants to look at, and it can be bought for from $10.00 to $15.00 an acre and a deed of title right away, and it has a good deal of timber away, and it has enough timber and it is only two hours drive by team from Grand Rapids, so at that rate it seems to me that it is better to stay right here in Wisconsin.

Yours truly,
Julius Nelson.

Couldn't Sell His Place
Frequently you hear of a man who had a sale of his property about complete when some defect was found in the title and the buyer wouldn't take property.

An Abstract of Title is a complete history of the transfers of property by deeds and mortgages from the time of the Government ownership. An Abstract of Title will show whether the title to any particular place of property is good, or whether mistakes exist in the drawing of the papers or whether or not there are any breaks in the title.

Get an Abstract of Title to your property, have it examined by a competent attorney, and if any mistakes or breaks exist, have them perfected so you can sell without any delay.

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves.
The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor.
Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the base heating qualities of

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater
The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney.
The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the linings—only first quality gray cast iron is used.
Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms.
Burns Soft Coal, Black Lignite, Hard Coal, Wood and lighter fuel.

A NARRATIVE OF METROPOLITAN LIFE

NOTES From MEADOWBROOK FARM By William Pitt

It is a mistake to treat the herd collectively.
The poultry house should be ventilated thoroughly.
Feed geese farther with a young animal than an older one.
The individual cow must be considered and reckoned with.
Wrap your butter in parchment paper and keep it in a cool place.
Shorts and bran make an excellent ration for sows that are suckling pigs.
You can hardly push pigs too fast, providing you use the right kind of food.
The cleaner the feed and feeding places, the better the quality of the pork in all.
Less grain is needed for fowls when bone and vegetables are fed in abundance.
Sheep do not drink much water, but what little there is drunk must be absolutely clean.
Aim to get the top price for the best, and if prices are cut, let it be for the cullings.
Chilled or long-laid eggs will not produce as strong chicks as fresh, well-cared-for eggs.
It is conducive to health to feed hogs when they can have the range of the pasture field.
The successful dairyman endeavors to raise all the feed needed for his cows on his own farm.
The dry season will emphasize still more strongly the need of preparing more food for the stock.
Turkey raisers find it profitable to have Guinea fowls with the turkey flock. They act as police.
Feeding hay will not have a tendency to increase rather than decrease the milk flow next winter.
The fleece of the ram should be dense, even in quality, and of a strong, clear white fiber throughout.
The farmer has not yet discovered a more efficient fertilizer and humus for the soil than animal manure.
There is nothing like sludge to keep the dairy cow's appetite on edge throughout the long winter period.
The separator should be placed where the light is good. Working in a dark place is always a disadvantage.
Farmers will soon be feeding new hay and new grain. Change from the old to the new should be made gradually.
After the haying and harvesting is completed it is often desirable to change the sheep from the regular pasture.
The hen is admitted to be one of the greatest financial factors in the country today, and she is also one of the most overworked.
Bacteria do not thrive in the cold but in heat only. If you keep your milk below 40 degrees the bacteria will have small chance.
Some good poultry men think by feeding sitting hens in the morning they are more apt to remain contentedly on their nests all day.
To secure the best results the speed of the separator must be uniform and up to the standard required for the make of the separator used.
Now is a good time to observe what was once the wet places on the farm where the was laid and see how it compares with other parts of the field.
The cream should be cooled just as quickly as possible after separating this weather and it should be kept cool until it is delivered at the creamery.
Clover is rich in nitrogen, and in homogeneous soils it develops tubercles which attract nitrogen from the air where it is stored in inexhaustible quantities.
In large pastures the animals roam from one especially attractive patch of grass to another, traveling all over the field, and trampling down more than they eat.
Cull the flock so that the sheep are of uniform type, and present an even appearance. Only such as show evidence of motherhood and hardness should be retained.
Some people assert that sheep do not drink water at all but it may be because they do not have a chance to get clean water and must subsist on the dew on the grass.
Soils that have been under cultivation for a series of years without proper rotation of crops lose the original humus that nature had provided to make the land produce the necessities of life.
Most people have the idea that ducks must always have mixed feed, but it is a mistake for they will eat wheat or barley or the ground, just like a chicken, and seem to think it good stuff.
Some men refuse to help their wives and daughters make flower gardens or allow them to have a plan or pretty carpet on the floor. Because "they" don't care for such things. Neither does a mule.
Remember that cleanliness and sanitation have the same effect on the stock as in the human habitation. They mean death to disease germs and health and strength to the dairy cow, and yield a good influence in his community.
Ducks do not need sand in their feed; for give them a fresh tub of water in the morning, and by night they will have at least two inches of sand on the bottom. They evidently think the sand is the dirt and that it is good to eat it. The water, without doubt, swallowing all they need in the operation.
Every farmer should work out and adopt a permanent system of agriculture under which he can increase and maintain the fertility of his land, and for a good living, rise in social value, and yield a good influence in his community.
Every dairyman should get a pair of scales that can be conveniently hung near the cows and weigh every milking and make a record of the weight. A few minutes and a few pails of milk will tell you what the cow is doing every day.
The ultimate end of the hog is pork and the quicker the growth to market maturity the more profit there is in it for the feeder.
Ensilage is not considered good for sheep and if it is fed at all it should be fed very sparingly and at intervals of two or three days.
At no time of the year is dairymen more unpleasant work than during the time when pastures are short and the flies are troublesome.
A hen that runs to meat may lay steadily for a week in the spring and summer, and then go on a vacation for the balance of the year.
If the onions are not growing well, a little nitrate of soda or hen manure sown broadcast, before or during a rain after helps them to fill out.
Prune out old canes of raspberries and blackberries, and burn them. Thin the hills to three or four shoots. Cultivate, and add some manure to the soil.
Stirring and pouring the freshly drawn milk will reduce in part the peculiar odor present in quality and with more good butter on the market more is consumed.
After farrowing when the digestive system of the sow has reached a normal condition her ration should be gradually increased until she is getting all she can eat.
There is no animal that responds so quickly to good treatment and generous feeding as the pig. And none that will degenerate so rapidly if not cared for and poorly fed.
There are great possibilities in plant breeding through seed selection, but every gardener or farmer must learn to do his own work, as it is hardly possible for a commercial seedman to do much along this line.
When filling the cheese hoops, pack the curd well in the center, so that when pressure is applied the curd will close up in the center first and the air and whey will have a chance to escape.
Many hog growers supply salt to their animals by mixing it with such substances as bone meal, charcoal, ashes, etc., keeping the resulting compound in a barrel or tub, and giving it to the animals as they eat.
Eggs laid before the hens get the spring run and exercise, variety of scratched out things, etc., are not thought to hatch so well or to bring so strong chicks as eggs laid a little later.
Every farmer should work out and adopt a permanent system of agriculture under which he can increase and maintain the fertility of his land, and for a good living, rise in social value, and yield a good influence in his community.
Every dairyman should get a pair of scales that can be conveniently hung near the cows and weigh every milking and make a record of the weight. A few minutes and a few pails of milk will tell you what the cow is doing every day.

CHIP OFF OLD BLOCK

Young Gates Very Much Like His Father.

Has Already Shown the "Plunging Spirit" on a Small Scale—Some of His Escapades in the Field of Chance.
New Richmond—Like his late father, Charles G. Gates has been known for several years as a spender. Now, with upward of $30,000,000 in his control, will prove to be a spender to an extent proportionate to the reputation he has gained as an embryo, or as "the son of John W. Gates."
Several transactions in which young Gates has figured and which may be regarded as significant are recalled below. While they perhaps are more than vague on the sensational, they disclose, it is pointed out, a character that in time may develop into "big, you-a-million" proclivities.
It is recalled that in 1901 Charles Gates decided he wanted a seat on the New York stock exchange, and to get it wrote a check for $52,000, the record price paid for a seat up to that time.
On one occasion John W. Gates went to Texas on a shooting trip and left his son in charge of his Wall Street brokerage office. One day the latter went out before the books closed on Colorado Fuel & Iron, borrowed about 10,000 shares and had it transferred into his own name. After the books closed he returned the certificates, but gave proxies on them to Mr. Harriman.
By a strange coincidence, George J. Gould owned all of this stock. He had played it about Wall Street to see what would happen to it. When Mr. Gould saw the clever move made by young Gates—for the Colorado Fuel war had just begun, and such moves counted—he let Harriman go ahead and bought it all of this stock. He had played it about Wall Street to see what would happen to it. Charles G. Gates.

counting the stock until the next day, when young Gates was overwhelmed by having served on his legal papers by the numerous brokers from whom he had borrowed the stock, ordering him to send the proxies on it to them and telling him that if he attempted to vote it at the Denver meeting they would bring suit for damages. Gates had run head on into the law and had to back out.
When John W. Gates was in his prime he was a familiar figure and a heavy plunger at the race tracks. So was his son. The latter's best record of winnings was made at Los Angeles, when he took $28,000 from the Santa Anita bookmakers. Returning to the city on the last day of the meeting, young Gates much elated, paid $500 for a dog worth $50. He then gave it to the cashier of the Alexandria hotel. Next he procured a $50 puppy, but meeting a young woman who liked the animal, pup No. 2 vanished in oblivion. Then the young plunger found a handsome bulldog and parted with $5,500, but kept the animal.
"Charlie" Gates has also taken occasional flings at roulette and faro and has usually changed hands one way or the other. One night, after a banquet on Broadway, he fell in with Arnold Rothstein and William Shaw, both notorious gamblers, and spent the night at their place of business. In the morning Rothstein accompanied the young plunger to his bank, where Rothstein cashed a check for $40,000 which Gates had written at daylight.
If the father was possessed of a whole-souled sense of humor, so is the son, and it has been amply evidenced by the many times when he has always laughed, at least in the stories that found their way to the public print.
The following is a sample: "Turn me a trick in the market, will you? I need the money badly." This request came over the telephone to young Gates one morning. Mr. Gates immediately bought 200 shares of Louisville & Nashville. In less than an hour the stock had been sold at two points profit.
"I've got $400 for you," shouted Gates over the telephone. "How do you want it, cashier's check?" The clerk, who thought Mr. Gates was joking, replied: "Oh, send it over in pennies."
Two strong porters were dispatched to the sub-treasury, 40,000 new pennies were procured and delivered to the amazed customer in a bushel basket.

WISCONSIN BREVITIES

New Richmond—Mrs. Clark, alias Tip Clark Allison, a farmer residing near this city, was sentenced to serve three years at the state prison for shooting his brother, Rocky Clark, in a row on the streets of New Richmond last January. He was tried for assault with intent to murder, but the jury found him guilty of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Judge Helms gave Tip the maximum sentence possible under that charge, even after the victim of the shooting had pleaded for a light sentence.
Madison—Governor McGovern granted a conditional pardon to Frank McNevin, now serving in Waupun for bigamy, having been sentenced for three years in 1910. The petition for pardon was backed by many letters and indorsements by Judge A. C. Luckas and District Attorney Zabel. It was shown, too, that tuberculosis is in the family of the prisoner. His mother's plea for clemency also was an element at the hearing that had an influence.
Ashland—A thrilling rescue of the fifteen members of the crew of the lumber carrier A. L. Hopkins in Lake Superior was accomplished by the crew of the steel tug freighter Alva Diney by steeling the water to calm the waves. The Hopkins was abandoned and is a derelict, directly in the path of incoming vessels. The Hopkins became waterlogged in a gale. Part of its lumber cargo and one sailor was washed overboard.
La Crosse—Before the adjournment of the Northwest German Methodist Episcopal conference here Bishop John L. Nielsen made the district assignments, those for Wisconsin being as follows: Galena district, La Crosse First church, J. H. Kline; Second church, W. J. Wiktor; Plattville and Livingston, W. C. Bergman; Stillwater, J. F. Danke; Tomah, L. L. Hertel; Yellow Creek, W. P. Schin.
Granville—The first delivery of sugar beets at sugar mill in the state was made by Henry W. Schultz, who hauled the first load in the campaign of 1911. The load was large and Mr. Schultz says that he has many more, and only makes the delivery at this time because he does not believe in holding the tubers. He says he looks for a large crop this year of good quality beets.
Baraboo—When C. L. Pearson plowed up his back yard he turned several old coins, one of which was a half dollar, dated 1838. On the rim it reads: "Half a dollar or fifty cents." None of the others could be deciphered and their value or date is not known. He has lived on the farm 41 years and this is the first time that this piece of ground has been plowed.
Kenosha—Charged with having secured thousands of dollars by swindling operations, the police of Kenosha are making every possible effort to get some trace of J. C. Morris, a chiseler. The police are also looking for a woman known only by the name "Sadie," who is alleged to have been a confederate.
Madison—Governor McGovern pardoned Ruth Ninoch, La Crosse, who was sentenced two years ago to the state industrial school for girls for incorrigibility. The sentence of W. C. Hissop, Milwaukee, sent to Waupun in 1905 for eight years for assault with intent to rob, was commuted to five years.
Green Bay—Daniel Martin, accused of stealing a mail pouch, was arrested and arraigned before United States Court Commissioner Strehlow. He pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until October 12, when he will have a hearing. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.
La Crosse—Henry Kindhammer, a riverman, drowned here when his skiff overturned. Frank E. Nichols was rescued unconscious, but will recover.
Madison—Twelve free bulletins on how to take care of the health of the body to be issued at intervals during the academic year by the committee on hygiene of the University of Wisconsin to the students of the institution.
La Crosse—A. R. Hirst, highway engineer of the Wisconsin commission, has invited George W. C. Cooley of the Minnesota commission to hold a conference on the construction of an interstate highway near this city.
Madison—The number of pensioners on the roll of the pension office on June 30 in Wisconsin were 21,828. The amount paid them was $3,845,894.64.
Janesville—The forty-seventh annual state convention of the Wisconsin Baptist church convened with President E. J. Lindsay of Milwaukee presiding. Rev. D. W. Hurlbut of Wauwatosa, general superintendent; W. D. Lindsay, Rev. W. A. McKillop, Rev. F. A. Hayward, Frank H. Lindsay, Rev. W. L. Thompson, William Lindsay, F. H. Kappen, Rev. R. G. Peterson, all of Milwaukee, and A. W. Smith of Wauwatosa are among those present. Organization was completed and the program consisted of entertainment.
Waupun—W. E. Rockhill, superintendent of the prison farm, has been given a thirty day lay off for violation of prison rules. As reported to the warden, he left convicts at work on the farm unguarded for two hours. Mr. Rockhill asserts it was less than one hour. The farm is at present under the management of the deputy farm manager, Officer Carter. Mr. Rockhill has retained attorneys and will fight the decision, which probably means his permanent retirement.

morning—that's what I should have done—gone at once. Now it's too late, unless you help me."
"I'll help you all I can," replied the other doggedly, "but I've promised Judge Brewster to clear up this matter to-night."
Suddenly there was a commotion at the door. Capt. Clinton entered, followed by Detective Sergeant Maloney. Alicia shrieked back in alarm.
"I thought Judge Brewster was here," said the captain, glancing suspiciously round the room.
"I'll send for him," said Annie, touching a bell.
"Well, where's your mysterious witness?" demanded the captain sarcastically.
He looked curiously at Alicia.
"This is Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Sr.," said Annie, "my husband's step-mother."
The captain made a deprecating salute. Bullly as he was, he knew how to be courteous when it suited his purpose. He had heard enough of the wealthy banker's aristocratic wife to treat her with respect.
"Beg pardon, m'm; I wanted to tell the judge I was going."
"Tell Judge Brewster that Capt. Clinton is going," said Annie.
Alicia, meantime, was once more on the verge of collapse. The long threatened exposure was now at hand. In another moment the judge and perhaps her husband would come in, and Annie would hand them the letter which exculpated her husband. There was a moment of terrible suspense.

Underwood, who introduced you to your husband. It was Underwood who aroused your husband's jealousy. You went to his rooms that night. Your husband followed you there, and the shooting took place!" Turning to Judge Brewster, he added, with a gasp: "You don't say so?" "Please confess, eh? Hypnotism, eh? I guess it's international and constitutional law for yours after this."
"You don't say so?" exclaimed Annie, irritated at the man's intolerable insolence.
Judge Brewster held up a restraining hand.
"Please say nothing," he said with dignity.
"No, I guess I'll let him talk. Go on, captain," she said with a smile, as if thoroughly enjoying the situation.
"Now, Mrs. Jeffries," he said sharply, "I'll trouble you to go with me to headquarters."
Annie and Alicia both stood up. Judge Brewster quickly objected.
"Mrs. Jeffries will not go with you," he said quietly. "She has made no attempt to leave the state."
"She's wanted at police headquarters," said the captain doggedly.
"She'll be there to-morrow morning."
"She'll be there to-night!"
He looked steadily at the judge, and the latter calmly returned his stare. There followed an awkward pause, and then the captain turned on his heel to depart.
"The moment she attempts to leave the house," he growled, "I shall arrest her. Good-night, judge!"
"Good-night, captain!" cried Annie mockingly.
"I'll see you later," he muttered.
"Come on, Maloney!"
The door banged to. They were alone.
"What a sweet disposition!" laughed Annie.
Judge Brewster looked sternly at her. Holding up the letter, he said: "What is the meaning of this? You are not the woman to whom this letter is addressed!"
"No!" stammered Annie, "that is—"
The judge interrupted her. Sternly he asked:
"Is it your intention to go on the witness stand and commit perjury?"
"I don't know. I never thought of that," she faltered.
The judge turned to Alicia.
"Are you going to allow her to do so, Mrs. Jeffries?"
"No," cried Alicia, quickly; "I never thought of such a thing."
"Then I repeat—is it your intention to perjure yourself?" Annie was silent, and he went on: "I assume it is, but let me ask you. Do you expect me, as your counsel, to become participants criminals to this issue of lies? Am I expected to build up a false structure for you to swear to? Am I?"
"I don't know; I haven't thought of it," replied Annie. "If it can be done, why not? I'm glad you suggested it."
"I suggest it!" exclaimed the lawyer, scandalized.
"Yes," cried Annie with growing exaltation; "it never occurred to me till you spoke. Everybody says I'm the woman who called on Robert Underwood that night. Well, that's all right. Let them continue to think so. What difference does it make so long as Howard is set free?" Going toward the door, she said: "Good-night, Mrs. Jeffries!"
The judge tried to bar her way.
"Don't go," he said; "Capt. Clinton's men are waiting outside."
"That doesn't matter!" she cried.
"But you must not go!" exclaimed the lawyer in a tone of command.
"I won't allow it. They'll arrest you! Mrs. Jeffries, you'll please remain here!"
But Annie was already at the door.
"I wouldn't keep Capt. Clinton waiting for the world," she cried.
"Good-night, Judge Brewster, and God bless you!"
The door slammed, and she was gone.

"It does seem odd, doesn't it?" went an Annie. "You can't think when it comes all of a sudden like this. It's just the way I felt this morning when I showed me Howard's confession."
"Prison! Prison!" wailed Alicia. Annie tried to console her.
"Not for long," she said soothingly; "you can get bail. It's only a matter of favor—Judge Brewster would get you out right away."
"Got me out!" cried Alicia distractedly. "My God! I can't go to prison! I can't! That's too much for me. I feel nothing! Look—read this!" Handing over Underwood's letter, she went on: "You can see for yourself. The wretch frightened me into such a state of mind that I hardly know what I was doing—I went to his room to save him. That's the truth. I swear to God! But do you suppose anybody will believe me on oath? They'll—they'll—"
Almost hysterical, she no longer knew what she was saying or doing. She collapsed utterly, and sinking down in a chair, gave way to a passionate fit of sobbing. Annie tried to quiet her.
"Hush!" she said gently, "don't go on like that. Be brave. Perhaps it won't be as bad as you think." She unfolded the letter Alicia had given her and carefully read it through. When she had finished her face lit up with joy. Enthusiastically she cried:
"This is great for Howard! What a blessing you didn't destroy it! What a wretch, what a hound to write you like that! Poor soul, of course, you went and begged him not to do it! I'd have gone myself, but I think I'd have broken an umbrella over his head or something—Gee! these kind of fellows need trouble, don't they? Alvo or dead, they breed trouble! What can we do?"
Alicia rose. Her tears had disappeared. There was a look of fixed resolve in her eyes.
"Howard must be cleared," she said, "and I must face it alone!"
"You'll be alone all right," said Annie thoughtfully. "Mr. Jeffries will be as much for you as he did for his son."
Nothing that her companion seemed hurt by her frankness, she changed the topic.
"Honest to God!" she exclaimed good-naturedly, "I'm broken-hearted—I'll do anything to save you from this—this public disgrace. I know what it means—I've had my dose of it. But this thing has got to come out, hasn't it?"
The banker's wife wearily nodded assent.
"Yes, I realize that," she said, "but the disgrace of arrest—I can't stand it, Annie! I can't go to prison even if it's only for a minute." Holding out a trembling hand, she went on: "Give me back the letter. I'll leave New York to-night—I'll go to Europe—I'll send it to Judge Brewster from Paris!" Looking anxiously into her companion's face, she pleaded: "You'll compel me to do that, won't you? Give it to me, please—you can trust me!"
Her hand was still extended, but Annie ignored it.
"No—no," she said, shaking her head, "I can't give it to you—how can I? Do you understand what the letter means to me?"
"Have pity!" cried the banker's wife, most beside herself. "You can tell them when I'm on the way out. Don't ask me to make this sacrifice now—don't ask me—don't!"
Annie was beginning to lose patience. The woman's selfishness angered her. With irritation, she said: "You've lost your nerve, and you don't know what you're saying. Howard's life comes before you—me—or anybody. You know that!"
"Yes—yes," cried Alicia desperately, "I know that. I'm only asking you to wait. I—I ought to have told this

"Howard's Life Comes Before You—Me—or Anybody."

Annie stood aloof, her eyes fixed on the floor. Suddenly, without uttering a word, she drew Underwood's letter from her bosom, and quickly approaching Alicia, placed it unnoticed in her hand. The banker's wife flushed and then turned pale. Her lips parted to protest. Even as she was taken back by such an exhibition of selfishness as this. She began to stammer thanks.
"No, no," whispered Annie quickly, "don't thank me; keep it!"
Capt. Clinton turned round with a leer. Instantly, he said to Annie:
"You might as well own up—you've played a trick on us all!"
"No, Capt. Clinton," she replied with quiet dignity; "I told you the simple truth. Naturally you don't believe it."
"The simple truth may do for Judge Brewster," grinned the policeman, "but it won't do for me. I never expected this mysterious witness, who was going to prove that Underwood committed suicide, to make an appearance, did I, Maloney. Why not? Because, begging your pardon for doubting your word, there's no such person."
"Begging your pardon for disputing your word, captain," she retorted, "I'm making him, there is such a person."
"Then where is she?" he demanded angrily. Annie made no answer, but looked for advice to Judge Brewster, who at that instant entered the room. The captain glared at her viciously, and unable to longer contain his wrath, he belittled:
"I'll tell you where she is! She's right here in this room!" Pointing his finger at Annie in theatrical fashion, he went on furiously: "Annie Jeffries, you're the woman who visited Underwood the night of his death! I don't hesitate to say so. I've said so all along, haven't I, Maloney?"
"Yes, you told the newspapers so," retorted Annie dryly.
"Taking no notice of her remark, the captain blustered:
"I've got your record, young woman! I know all about you and your folks. You knew the two men when they were at college. You knew Underwood before you made the acquaintance of young Jeffries. It was clueless enough? What did I tell you? Continuing to peruse the letter, he read on: "Shall be found dead to-morrow—suicide." He stopped short and frowned. "What's this? Why, this is a barefaced forgery!" Judge Brewster quickly snatched the letter from his hand and, glancing over it quickly, said:

"Permit me. This belongs to my client."
Capt. Clinton's prognathous jaw snapped to with a click, and he squared his massive shoulders, as he assuredly did when preparing for hostilities.
"Now, Mrs. Jeffries," he said sharply, "I'll trouble you to go with me to headquarters."
Annie and Alicia both stood up. Judge Brewster quickly objected.
"Mrs. Jeffries will not go with you," he said quietly. "She has made no attempt to leave the state."

Delicate Works of Art

Wonderful Ingenuity Displayed in Turning Out Microscopic Articles of Great Value.
In 1878 a London locksmith constructed a clock made up of 11 different pieces of metal, and when it was finished and the key attached the whole weighed but one grain. Furthermore, he made a chain of gold, consisting of 43 links, and when he had fastened this to the lock and key, he put one end of the chain round the neck of a flea, and found that the insect was able to draw with ease both chain and lock.
Sixteen hundred ivory dishes were made by one Oswald Netherberger, and exhibited before Pope Paul V. These dishes were perfect in every respect, but were so small as to be scarcely visible to the naked eye, and were all included in a basket of the size of an ordinary pepper-corn.
The art of delicate microscopic workmanship has not, however, been confined to other times. It is not yet dead, as is evidenced by the marvelous production a few years ago by a Jeweler of Turin of a miniature tugboat.
His wife prepared.
Blanche Ring, the actress, is always preaching caution—whether she practices it or not is as Kipling says, another story. "If anyone was only as cautious as I am, I once knew," she said, her other night, "nobody would ever go broke." He called at the money-order office and asked for a post-order for $100 to the old country. When the man with the money gave him the name as payee.
"I'm going over next week," he volunteered, and I want to have the money waiting for me on the other side; so that I can give it to my mother."
"Why don't you take it with you to the bank?" the teller asked.

Raising Standard of Health

If the alarm were not quite a familiar one by this time, 242,000 physically defective school children out of 223,000 examined would be enough to send even a mild magazine editor into hysterics. New York's population, however, is not going to capitulate to the dogs as a hosty gain at the figures would seem to indicate. Defective teeth claimed no less than 189,000 victims, nasal trouble accounted for 73,000 and poor eyesight for 38,000. We would not minimize the important work that is being done in calling the dentist and the surgeon to the aid of the school teacher. But, as a precaution against the physical ailments, it is well to point out that it is our standards of public health that are being raised, and not our children are deteriorating. ### The Store That Treats You Right

"The Three Twins"

"The Three Twins" which comes to Dally's Theatre, Monday, October 23rd, is positively one of the best musical comedies that has ever been produced. It ran in Chicago for 5 months at the Whitney Opera House, and for 10 months at the Herald Square Theatre in New York.

"The Three Twins" is a musical comedy with a plot and many novel features, the conglomerate nonsense, the riot of color, and the spirited movements make such an agreeable attack on one's senses that it matters not under what name the revelry goes. The music titillates and tantalizes, and the witty lines and adroit clowning excites one to laughter.

Mr. Galtos has so lavishly costumed the beautiful show girls that they are pleasing to the eye. In the second act there is a hand some Parisian Directoire gown worn by beautiful and shapely girls. The electrical effects are marvelous. The "Pacograph" being a distinct novelty, the electrical aerial swing being a new structure of steel, illuminated with over 2,000 electric lights revolving at a rapid rate six girls in the baskets singing "The Outside Song" is said to be one of the most beautiful finales ever staged.

Urges Farmers to Study Railroads.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—That a study of railroad rates, timetables, and methods of transporting live stock should be included among the courses offered by every county agricultural school, is the opinion of Prof. A. A. Johnson, principal of the Milwaukee County Agricultural School, expressed in an address before the National Secondary Educational Association here.

Farmers need to know more about transportation problems, Prof. Johnson declared, and he advocates the introduction of a course in transportation into all the agricultural schools of the state. Wisconsin now has six county schools in which the subject could be taught.

Big Meeting of Plague Fighters.

Invitations to attend the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association in Milwaukee October 13-14, were today sent to more than 1,000 public officials, physicians and clergymen in all parts of the state. Those in charge declare that the gathering will be the largest and most representative ever held in the history of the association.

A special attempt will be made this year to effect greater cooperation between the administrative heads of the different communities of the state and the physicians in the crusade against tuberculosis, and it was with this object in view that mayors, health officers, county supervisors and school superintendents were especially urged to attend.

The chief speaker will be Dr. Richard C. Cabot, Boston, professor of medicine at Harvard University, who will address a joint meeting of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association and the State Conference of Charities and Corrections, meeting in Milwaukee on the same dates, on Saturday night, October 14.

Reports from twenty Wisconsin cities on the anti-tuberculosis work in their respective districts will be grouped under the head of "A Birdseye View of the Crusade." Discussions and papers will treat of open air schools, children's recreation, sanatorium maintenance and treatment and other phases of the consumption problem.

The most important problem to come up for discussion at the meeting is that of extending the activities of the association to include all communicable diseases. The discussion will be opened by a debate, setting forth the principal points in favor of and against this move, and followed by a general discussion.

Several entertainment features are being arranged with the object of making the meeting an enjoyable as well as a profitable and instructive one to the visitors.

RUDOLPH

During the high water the past week Wm. Johnson who lives on the river road, has been almost flooded out, in fact the water was as bad at his place as during the high water of 1909. Two acres of Mr. Johnson's corn was washed down river, besides he will lose some potatoes and other stuff, making altogether quite a heavy loss. Mr. Johnson had to use a boat to go to his house from the main road and the water was so high that his cattle and horses could not be taken out of the barn. We understand that the Mrs. Dave Taylor and Mr. Siskinger places also suffered by the high water.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kersten and sister Miss Anna Krommesaker were in your city on Wednesday doing some shopping.

Miss Mary Maunders of Milwaukee and Miss Hattie Krommesaker of Hollandtown, Brown County, are visiting their uncle, aunt and cousins at the home of Peter Krommesaker Sr., for a few weeks.

We are very sorry to hear of the high water and of all the damage done by it through the state. The bridge across Mill Creek went out so that one could not get to Milladore, Junction City nor Stevens Point. We are in hopes there won't be any more rain for a while so the farmers will be able to get their corn and potatoes taken out.

The Clover Hill Creamery Co. has bought the building that Mr. Adrain used as a blacksmith shop and will remodel it for a creamery.

Will Olark of Milladore spent Sunday with his parents. He got here by riding around by the Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gokey of Mosinee are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Marseau.

Mrs. Kamel Marseau and Geo. Elliot drove to your city Thursday to do some shopping.

Mrs. John Raymont is at the Rapids with her father who is very sick.

John Hassell has gone to Milwaukee where he is working. He expects to soon go to Danville, Ill.

Solmer Hassell returned home Monday evening from a pleasant three weeks vacation.

Wm. Bade, who is handling potatoes here, unloaded over 500 bushels Monday. That is a pretty good days work.

Tr. John O'Reilly has been under the weather for a few days but he is better at the present writing. The bishop of this diocese will be here to confirm a large class on Saturday, Nov. 4th.

Allie Koch was a business caller in your city.

Mrs. Johnson of Wild Rose visited her son Noel from the morning train until the noon train.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson from near Big Bend arrived Thursday evening for a visit with their son, Dr. Jackson and family.

Theo. VanErt sold his farm of 80 acres in the town of Carson and is now looking around to buy another farm.

Will Hams of Grand Rapids worked on the section here last week but was taken sick and had to go home.

Mrs. Jean Juneau came up from the Rapids Saturday evening, bringing home her father, Mr. Johnson, who has been quite sick down to her place. She returned Sunday evening.

Oliver Dandley of your city brought Rev. Johnson up Sunday afternoon and services were held in the Moravian church.

Leona LeMay, who is attending training school in the Rapids, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. LeMay.

Mr. Helntz, father of Mrs. John Raymont and a former resident of the town of Rudolph, is seriously ill at his home in Grand Rapids and is not expected to live.

SIGEL

Julius Forslund, who has been employed in Minnesota for the past two years, has returned here to spend the winter at home.

The dance held at the Fogh home on Sunday night was largely attended and a good time is the report.

It is reported that the merry wedding bells will soon be ringing in our little burg.

David Sharkey of Rudolph spent Sunday in our midst.

Julius Forslund is on the sick list. Frank Krysiak has returned to his home in Milwaukee after a pleasant two weeks visit at the home of his brother-in-law, John Jagodzinski.

Wm. Kronholm of Merrill spent a few days of last week at the home of his mother, leaving on Monday for Grand Rapids, Michigan.

George Osgood of your city spent Sunday at the John Peterson home.

Mrs. Martin Burgeon is home from Duluth, Minn., where she has been a guest of relatives and friends the past two weeks.

Mrs. Alf Carlson and daughter Tillie of Altoona, visited at the Berg home the past week.

Leo Nordstrom and Eric Granstedt of your city spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Emanuel Krouholm departed Monday for Grand Rapids, Michigan, where she went to attend the wedding of her son William, who is to be married to Miss Emma Lundstrum of that place on Saturday, Oct. 14.

Miss Eva Peterson will leave for LaCrosse next week, where she will spend the winter.

Gust Nelson left last week for Almond where he will be employed for a length of time.

Sam Sabers has gone to Almond to work.

Eric Berg attended the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the State Bank of Vesper.

A New Magazine.

We are in receipt of Volume 1, No. 1 of Business Ethics Magazine, published at Milwaukee. It states that it is dedicated to the "upbuilding of local communities; the incalculable of the principles of honesty and fair dealing; and a relentless opposition to trade centralization."

The magazine is edited by Thomas J. Sullivan and Edgar T. Wheelock and contains some good articles and a number of nice illustrations. The subscription price is $1.50 per year.

School Board Proceedings.

Lincoln Building, Oct. 8, 1911. At a regular meeting of the Board of Education held October 8, 1911, the following commissioners were present: Gill, Warner, Witter, Taylor, Oberbeck, Nash, Mellicke and Natwick; absent, commissioners, Hill, Phillos, Balczok, Kellogg, Clapp, Bein and Hatch.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were then read and approved.

The following communication from Frank Leand was then taken up: To the members of the School Board of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin: Gentlemen: I, the undersigned, will set out 50 four inch Elm trees at $1.25 per tree. (Some of the trees may be 4 inches but none smaller than 4 inches.) For lowering 4 trees, 3 feet, at the stone school house, I would charge, per tree, $5.00.

For trimming and cementing trees, at all City Schools, I would charge $40.00.

Reference of this kind of work done in Green Bay, by undersigned, will be given if desired.

Respectfully, (Signed) FRANK LEAND, 110 Twelfth & Prospect Sts., Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

GUARANTEE.

I, the undersigned, having planted 50 four inch Elm trees at the schools of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, hereby agree to replant at half price, any of the trees set out if any or all were to die. Price charged for setting out each tree is $4.25. The replanting of dead trees to be done during the winter of 1912-1913.

It is understood that the members of the school board will see to it that, in case of dry weather during the summer of 1912, the trees will be watered regularly, TWICE a week, about FOUR pails of water to each tree.

May Remain in the District.

Marshfield Herald:—Congressman E. A. Morse of Antigo, representative of the old Tenth district, would have to move only about six miles to be a resident of the new Eighth district and then could become practically a candidate for re-election. It is learned that strictly on the Q. T. some of his intimate friends have been urging him to buy a farm in the northeast corner of Marathon county, six miles or so from his present home, Antigo, and reside there. This would make it rather hard campaigning for the candidates already announced in the new Eighth district, for Mr. Morse has been in congress for years, is Progressive in politics and has always taken good care of his district. There has been a general feeling of regret among his friends that he was "left outside" in the 1911 re-apportionment. A district always benefits to a certain extent by retaining an experienced representative in congress, and as Mr. Morse's political faith is acceptable to a great number of Republicans in the new district there is little doubt that he would give any other candidate a strong run.

INDUSTRY AND EDUCATION.

For some years the tendency of young men seeking higher education has been toward law and medicine. Schools of these professions have increased in number and the fields of occupation have become more crowded. The Grand Rapids Tribune has been endeavoring to show the value of the training in industry and the science of treating human life. It is at work which suggests the possibility of a change in the drift of the educational current. Public and private enterprises are enlisted in a movement to work out new cures for old diseases and improve sanitation throughout the country. Vast progress has been made, and more will be made. Along with this, though distinctly apart from it, goes the effort of the government and private capital to harness nature for the needs of industry; to open up irrigation and water-power plants for agricultural and industrial purposes. The New York Times service the attention of young men contemplating finished education. They are, undoubtedly, profiles of opportunity. What will the effect be in these two channels? Will the current be diverted from law and medicine to that of technical and industrial engineering?

How rapidly the aeroplane is becoming practically useful is shown by the plan of the British post office department to install immediately an aerial post between London and Windsor and the report that the French post office intend to employ the hydro-aeroplane for delivering mail from incoming steamships, says the Chicago Record-Herald. Not more than two years ago men of affairs and scientists saw little possibility of the heavier-than-air machines becoming more than a means of sport. There seems not much to be gained by time in sending letters by aeroplane between London and Windsor, but the experiment will doubtless lead to the establishment of other lines if successful. The distance is only 21 miles, and it is expected that the trip will take about half an hour. A railway express train could travel as quickly. As regards the transfer of mail to steamships, there seems greater possibility; several hours may be gained.

An entirely unromantic Austrian count, who has lived in New York some years concealing his title and earning his bread, has just found it necessary in getting a marriage license to reveal his secret. His cause to America to escape the dull conventions imposed by his rank at home, and is so well content with social freedom that he will never return to Austria. This is not the kind of nobleman that marries an American heiress in a church decorated with $10,000 worth of roses, but he will make no worse American citizen of that account.

Persons who grow vastly discontented with their lot if they are not promoted or otherwise elevated in power and remuneration every year or two may be interested in the announcement that Principal Charles F. Harman, who has just retired from service in New York city, has been a schoolmaster for fifty-four years and gave him a reunion dinner. They boys, believe, and rightly, that he has had a great influence upon the civilization of the city.

According to reports from United States Consul Charles Adams Holden of Rouen the much discussed project of establishing a train ferry service between Dieppe, France, and New Haven, Eng., is soon to become an accomplished fact. At present passengers and freight are transferred from the railway cars to steamers, transported across the English channel, and again loaded on the railway. If having ferry steamers on which an entire train could be transported, all the annoyance, expense and waste of time could be avoided.

A woman in New York in a hobble skirt chased and caught a pickpocket. Of course, in the interests of reason and logic, the hobble skirt should have brought its wearer to failure, but it was strictly in the nature of filigree femininity that she triumphed, and criticism is again abashed.

Never watch an athlete, O innocent bystander, from the truck of taxicabs or street cars.

An outside umpire declares that New York has cleaner streets than Chicago. But the western metropolis is not to be outdone in something so unimportant. It has smaller mosquitoes than New York ever dreamed of, and, moreover, they are a self-culture. So honors are even.

It is believed that Lake Michigan cools off Chicago, while it warms the fruit belt of Michigan. Could anything be more amiable?

A western railroad has announced that it will employ no more girls as stenographers in its departments, owing to the tendency it finds in the girls to get married. Odd that this railroad is the first to make the startling discovery of this tendency.

STEPHENSON OF WISCONSIN DENIES HIS GUILT BEFORE SENATE SUB-COMMITTEE.

SENATOR ON WITNESS STAND

Ascertains He Personally Was Ignorant of the Way in Which His Managers Spent $107,793 During His Campaign in 1908.

MILWAUKEE.—On the witness stand before the senatorial investigating committee for three hours to answer charges that bribery and corrupt changes had contributed to his election, United States Senator Stephen Stephenson testified that, although he spent $107,793 in his campaign, he had little knowledge as to just how it was spent except that it was not in violation of the law. The details, he said, he had left to his campaign managers.

As an instance of his ignorance of just where the money went he cited an item of $11,900 for postage.

"Now," declared Senator Stephenson, "I am president of more than a dozen active industries in this state, and I have in my employ more than 4,000 men, some of whom have been with me for 50 years. In them I have every confidence.

"I do not pay any attention to the details of those industries. Just as, when my campaign for nomination by the primaries in 1908 came up, I could not buy my way into office, I could not buy my way into office. I gave some of money to my managers and told them to carry on a vigorous campaign and do everything to elect me, except that I must keep within the law. I entrusted them not to violate the law in any particular. So far as I know they obeyed me."

MILWAUKEE.—That the $107,793 which was expended by United States Senator Isaac Stephenson in his campaign for the senatorial nomination was used legitimately for brass bands, lithographs, buttons and other campaign advertising, and was not employed corruptly, was the gist of testimony given before the investigating committee.

ALLEN GUILTY, FINED $12,000

Kenosha Millionaire and John R. Collins Admit They Smuggled Jewelry Into This Country.

New York.—Nathan Allen, the Milwaukee leather manufacturer of Kenosha, Wis., appeared in the United States district court and entered a plea of guilty to all the counts in an indictment charging him with smuggling jewelry into the country. He was fined $12,000.

John R. Collins of Memphis, Tenn., organizer of the Southern Coal company, also appeared before Judge Hough and pleaded guilty to the last count in the indictment charging him with smuggling jewelry. His punishment was fixed at a fine of $4,000.

Allen and Collins were indicted in connection with the smuggling of jewelry valued at $150,000, which is alleged to have been given to Mrs. Helen Dwyer-Jenkins. Mrs. Jenkins appeared as the principal witness against Allen and Collins before the Grand Jury.

PLENTY OF LABOR FOR CANAL

Shortage Avoided by Bringing Numbers of Workers From Barbados to Canal Zone.

Washington.—The threatened shortage of laborers on the canal strip is believed to have been avoided. During the last three months approximately 1,300 contract laborers, collected mostly from the islands in the neighborhood of Barbados, have been brought to the zone.

Although the government of Barbados has prohibited the further recruiting of laborers on that island, the headquarters of the commission's agent have been maintained at the capital at Barbados and most of the laborers embarked from that port.

HERO OF SANTIAGO DROPS DEAD IN NEW YORK.

Career of Man Who Smashed Spanish Fleet Is Closed in Tragic Manner.

New York.—Rear Admiral Schley, hero of the battle of Santiago, dropped dead from apoplexy on the street here. His death came just a week after the publication of advanced sheets of Admiral P. E. Chadwick's history of the Spanish-American war, in which Schley is completely exonerated for sinking the famous "loop," that "loop" now being shown as the "brilliant maneuver" of the battle, and the maneuver that accomplished the defeat of the Spanish fleet.

Schley was apparently in perfect health a short time before he fell upon the street on Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street and died before a doctor could be summoned.

Admiral Schley, the man who smashed the Spanish fleet at Santiago, was one of the leading figures in the American navy for a generation. He was born in Frederick county, Maryland, in 1839. After graduating at Annapolis in 1859 and serving during the Civil war in minor capacities, he was commissioned in 1865 as lieutenant commander.

In 1884 he volunteered for and was placed in command of the expedition sent to search the North polar region for Lieutenant (now Rear Admiral) Greely, and his companions, who had been lost from civilization for nearly two years, and the finding of them in a state of starvation and about to die constituted one of the dramatic incidents in arctic exploration.

TRUST OUSTER SUITS ON

Chicagoan First Witness as Missouri Lumber Case Is Resumed—Charges Filed by Madley.

St. Louis.—Taking of testimony in Missouri ouster suit against 31 companies alleged to be in a lumber trust was resumed here. The suit was filed by Gov. Hadley when he was attorney general in 1907, at the request of the legislature. Hearings have been held in various cities and the state expects to close its case in the present hearing, which will extend until the last of the week.

George W. Hatching of Chicago, secretary of the Illinois Retail Lumber Dealers' association, was the first witness. His testimony related to the formation of his association, and Assistant Attorney General John N. Atkinson, who is conducting the case for the state, endeavored to show that the organization is a part of the alleged trust the state desires to oust.

BUMPER CROP OF SUGAR

But the Good Fortune of Dominicans Does Not Help House Harvest.

Washington.—The misfortune of the American sugar grower faces further prices on sugar in the height of the harvesting season finds its counterbalance in the exultation of the Dominicans over the prospects of the biggest sugar crop and the highest prices in the history of the island.

Altogether the island appears to be on the top wave of prosperity, the customs collections for the eight months ended August 31 last being $2,320,204.79, which was $221,405.09 more than for the corresponding period last year.

ORDER OUT TROOPS

REGIMENT IS SENT TO M'COMB, MISS., BECAUSE OF STRIKE RIOTS.

Coaches Are Riddled, But No One Hurt—Two Men Killed, Several Injured in Texas and Illinois in Railroad War.

Jackson, Miss.—Rioting, resulting from the strike of the Illinois Central shophmen, because so fierce at McComb City, Miss., that the Third regiment, Mississippi National Guard has been sent to that town.

A train bearing non-union men en route to New Orleans was riddled with bullets as it passed through the outskirts of McComb City, but no one was injured.

One man was fatally injured and several severely hurt in a pitched battle between three carloads of non-union men and a mob at McComb City. Planks were fired, stones hurled and clubs wielded savagely on both sides.

E. H. Montgomery, a non-union man, sustained a fractured skull and it is thought he will die.

Calvin, Ill.—Robert Mitchell, an Illinois Central switchman, was shot and killed in the railroad yards at Mounds, Mo., by a machinist brought here as a strike-breaker but discharged for incompetency.

Trouble between strikers and strike-breakers at Mounds, Cal. and Central railroad induced the railroad's officials to apply for the injunction, according to a statement from the office of J. F. Porterfield, superintendent of the St. Louis division.

The Illinois Central railroad obtained an injunction in the United States district court for the eastern district of Illinois here directed against strikers and strike sympathizers and extending interference in any way with the conduct of the company's business.

The injunction covers the entire St. Louis division, including among the more important points East St. Louis, Centralia, Carbondale, Mounds and Cairo.

Houston, Tex.—One of the men guarding the Southern Pacific shops, J. J. Pines of Athens, Tex., dead; another, S. D. Crockett of Athens, Tex., shot and seriously wounded; Gordon Knight of Athens, also a strike-breaker, badly cut and bruised, and Capt. S. D. Knight, special guard, battered, is the net result of a mob that followed the disembarcation here by a number of strike-breakers brought from New Orleans to replace employees in the Houston shops of the Harriman lines now on strike.

Denton, Tex.—A party of 55 strike-breakers, on route from the north over the "Price" lines to Houston, was attacked here by a mob armed with clubs and beer bottles. Several persons were hurt and the strike-breakers were chased out of the city.

Will Not Sue Pinchot Now

Denton, Tex.—Former Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger, who threatened legal action against Gifford Pinchot in the heat of the Alaskan coal and controversy and whose friends, he says, have been urging him to sue the former national forester upon the latter's arrival at Seattle from Alaska, announces that after long and careful consideration he has decided not to make a legal attack.

Taft Explains Trip

PRESIDENT GUEST AT MISSOURI STATE FAIR.

Nation's Executive Declares Tour Will Clarify All Actions of His Administration—Glad He Visited Iowa.

Sedalia, Mo.—President Taft swung back into Missouri to become the guest of the state fair. He left Iowa behind and in discussing his trip through that state the president declared his reception was most cordial and pleasing.

"I am glad I went to Iowa," he said. "I had no fear that my reception would not be cordial. Some had suggested otherwise, but not Iowa. Perhaps the wishes were rather to the contrary. As a rule, I wish to testify my gratitude to the governor, to the state officers, to the congressmen of Iowa and to the senators for their cordial reception of me without regard to the question whether they agreed with me in politics, and I want to say the same thing about the people who turned out. I believe they have learned something that I had in my heart to tell them and I guess it has not done them any harm."

Explaining his western trip, President Taft said that, while many persons thought that a president should keep to the White House in Washington and while he realized the force of this argument, it was hard to sit at the seat of government with a strong feeling in your breast of a desire for expression of a character that shall not be denunciatory, that shall not be partisan in form, but merely in a quiet way to state your reasons for your action. He believed it helped clarify the situation to get out into the country and give voice to his views.

HEIRESS ENDS HER TROTH

Helena Stallo, Granddaughter of Oil Magnate, Worth $20,000,000, Declares Engagement Off.

CONVENTION OF STATE BAPTISTS

Forty-Seventh Annual Meeting Opens at Janesville.

PRESIDENT LINDSAY PRESIDES

Organization Completed in One Day—Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian Church Will Be Held on October 10 to 12.

Madison.—The forty-seventh annual state convention of the Wisconsin Baptist church convened at Janesville, with President T. J. Lindsay of Milwaukee presiding. Rev. D. W. Harburt of Wausau, General Superintendent W. D. Lindsay, Rev. W. A. McKillip, Rev. E. A. Hayward, Frank H. Lindsay, Dr. W. L. Thompson, W. H. Lindsay, E. H. Kappen, Rev. R. D. Plerson, all of Milwaukee, and A. W. Smith of Wausau were important members of the board of the state association. Organization was completed in one day, the program consisting of entertainment. The state synod of the Presbyterian church will be held here on October 10 to 12 inclusive.

Another aspect of the law which makes it void as to school land is that which provides that whenever any sale of lands is made the contract shall be void as to the state for public use one, shall be void. The features of the law is only passed upon in its relation to the school lands in the present opinion. There is, however, a new question as to whether the law is not in valid as to any other state lands.

Counties Get State Aid

State Superintendent C. P. Cary has certified to the secretary of state the names of those counties which maintained a county training school for teachers last year, and lived up to all the requirements governing the schools, and apportioned the amount of state aid to each, these sums being two-thirds of the cost of maintaining them during the year. The counties and their apportionment follow:

Buffalo, $2,426.36; Janes, $3,500; Green, $3,500; Koshong, $3,106.42; Lincoln, $3,500; Marathon, $3,500; Marinette, $3,500; Polk, $3,524.78; Price, $2,971.16; Rock, $3,500; Stock, $3,500; Washburn, $2,531.54; Wood, $3,500.

Dagger Banks Prosperous

The quarterly abstract of the report of state and joint savings banks of Wisconsin, issued by the state bank law commission, shows a total resources and discounts on September 4 of $114,218,557.76, an increase since June 7 of $7,714,972.76. The increase of deposits helped to check aggregate $1,349,725.35, of demand certificates of deposits, $345,711.84, and of savings deposits, $898,286.78. The number of banks is 64, an increase of 11. There are 11 trust companies with total resources of $11,025,348.70, total deposits of $6,604,571.18.

Insurance Report Out

The subject of state life insurance is discussed at considerable length by State Insurance Commissioner H. L. Ekern in the forty-second annual report of the Wisconsin Insurance department on life and casualty insurance in this state, which was issued. He gives a synopsis of the new law passed by the legislature creating a "life fund" for the purpose of granting life insurance and annuities to persons within the state and residents of it.

There are 148 life insurance companies, associations and organizations licensed to do business in Wisconsin.

Faculty Work Assigned

At the meeting of the university faculty President Charles R. Van Hise announced the chairman of the various university committees of the faculty for the coming year. The chairman of last year were reappointed except in the case of the committee on Japhro hall and student interests. In the former case, Mrs. Lois Kendall Mathews, new dean of women, succeeds Miss Camp, while Prof. A. L. Russell Fish will succeed Prof. A. L. Russell as chairman of the committee on student interests.

The reappointments are as follows: Athletic council, Professor Elmer; board of editors of the bulletin, Prof. W. M. Smith; censor of student publications, Professor Dickinson; freshman, Professor Roe; graduate school, Professor Comstock; honorary degrees, Prof. C. F. Smith; lecture, Prof. Joseph Jackson; library, President Van Hise; loans and endowment, Professor Olson; press bulletin, Professor Meyer; room and time tables, Professor Zdanowicz; university hygiene, Professor Ravenol.

Governor Not Decided

Governor McGovern had a long conference with Deputy Attorney General Russell Jackson regarding the advisability of having the state represented by an attorney at the Stephenson investigation, but no decision was reached. He has not yet received official notification that the committee decided to allow the state to be represented at the hearing, but he has been informally notified of the committee's action. He will await the formal notification before acting.

No Credit Sales of State School Land

That the law passed by the last legislature providing that state lands may be sold on credit is invalid has been held by the state supreme court in the ruling of Attorney General Davidson.

The law providing that state lands may be sold on credit upon an installment payment of 15 per cent of the unpaid value, the balance to be paid at any time within twenty years. It further provides that when the purchaser makes a final payment he may claim a discount of from twenty-five to fifty per cent of the full value of the improvements placed upon the land.

This latter provision of the law is held clearly void as far as it relates to school lands in that it diverts a portion of the purchase price from the school fund, in violation of the constitution.

Another aspect of the law which makes it void as to school land is that which provides that whenever any sale of lands is made the contract shall be void as to the state for public use one, shall be void. The features of the law is only passed upon in its relation to the school lands in the present opinion. There is, however, a new question as to whether the law is not in valid as to any other state lands.

Water Runs Over Rotherhood Dam

Which Is Twenty-Five Feet High—Street and Basements at Wausau Flooded—Highest Water in Years.

Wausau.—Residents along the banks of the Wisconsin river are alarmed over the condition of the Rotherhood dam, which is usually a quiet and powerful stream, but since recent heavy rains has risen four feet and is at its highest point in years.

The greatest apprehension is felt below Shufeldt Mills and Rotherhood dam, where a large dam has been located for the purpose of storing the water for the use of the mill. The dam usually holds back a head of water of twenty feet, but since the rains this has risen till the top of the dam has been reached, twenty

"The Three Twins"

--"The Three Twins" which comes to Daily's Theatre, Monday, October 22nd, is positively one of the best musical comedies that has ever been produced. It ran in Chicago for 5 months at the Whitney Opera House, and for 10 months at the Herald Square Theatre in New York. "The Three Twins" is a musical comedy with a plot and many novel features, the congeniality, nonsense, the riot of color, and the spirited movements make such an agreeable attack on one's senses that it matters not under what name the revelry goes. The music thrills and tantalizes, and the witty lines and adept clowning excites one to laughter. Mrs. Gailles has an incredibly costumed beautiful show girls that they are playing to the eye. In the second act we get eight of the handsomest Parisian Directoire gowns worn by beautiful and shapely girls. The theatrical effects are marvelous. The "Photograph" being a distinct novelty, the electrical aerial swing being an amazing structure of steel, illuminated with over 2,000 electric lights revolving at a rapid rate, and the girls in the basket singing "The Gypsy Song" is said to be one of the most beautiful finales ever staged.

Urges Farmers to Study Railroads

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.--That a study of railroad rates, timetables, and methods of transporting live stock should be included among the courses offered by every county agricultural school, is the opinion of Prof. A. A. Johnson, principal of the Milwaukee County Agricultural School, expressed in an address before the National Secondary Educational Association here.

Farmers need to know more about transportation problems, Prof. Johnson declared, and he advocates the introduction of a course in transportation into all the agricultural schools of the state. Wisconsin now has six county schools in which the subject could be taught.

Big Meeting of Plague Fighters

Invitations to attend the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association in Milwaukee (October 13-14), were today sent to more than 1,000 public officials, physicians and clergymen in all parts of the state. Those in charge declare that the gathering will be the largest and most representative ever held in the history of the association.

A special attempt will be made this year to effect greater cooperation between the administrative heads of the different communities of the state and the physicians in the crusade against tuberculosis, and it was with this object in view that mayors, health officers, county supervisors and school superintendents were especially urged to attend.

The chief speaker will be Dr. Richard C. Cabot, Boston, professor of medicine at Harvard University, who will address a joint meeting of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association and the State Conference of Charities and Corrections, meeting in Milwaukee on the same dates, on Saturday night, October 14.

Reports from twenty Wisconsin cities on the anti-tuberculosis work in their respective districts will be grouped under the head of "A Bird's Eye View of the Crusade."

Discussions and papers will treat of open air schools, children's recreation, sanatorium maintenance and treatment and other phases of the consumption problem.

The most important problem to come up for discussion at the meeting is that of extending the activities of the association to include all communicable diseases. The discussion will be opened by a debate, setting forth the principal points in favor of and against this move, and followed by a general discussion.

Several entertainment features are being arranged with the object of making the meeting an enjoyable as well as a profitable and instructive one to the visitors.

RUDOLPH

During the high water the past week Wm. Johnson who lives on the river road, has been almost flooded out. In fact the water was as bad at his place as during the high water of 1909. Two acres of Mr. Johnson's corn was washed down river, besides he will lose some potatoes and other stuff, making altogether quite a heavy loss. Mr. Johnson had to use a boat to go to his house from the main road and the water was so high that his cattle and horses could not be taken out of the barn. We understand that the Mrs. Dave Taylor and Mr. Sickinger places also suffered by the high water.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kersten and sister Miss Anna Krommenaker were in your city on Wednesday doing some shopping.

Miss Mary Manders of Milwaukee and Miss Hattie Krommenaker of Hollandtown, Brown County, are visiting their uncle, aunt and cousin at the home of Peter Krommenaker Sr., for a few weeks.

We are very sorry to hear of the high water and of all the damage done by it through the state. The bridge across Mill Creek went out so that one could not go to Milladore. Junction City nor Stevens Point. We are in hopes there won't be any more rain for a while so the farmers will be able to get their corn and potatoes taken care of.

The Clover Hill Creamery Co. has bought the building that Mr. Adams used as a blacksmith shop and will remodel it for a creamery.

Will Clark of Milwaukee spent Sunday with his parents. He got home by going around by the Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gokey of Madison are spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Marston.

Messieurs Kandel Marston and Gen. Elliot drove to your city Thursday to do some shopping.

Mrs. John Rayome is at the Rapids with her father who is very sick. John Russell has gone to Milwaukee where he is working. He expects to soon go to Danville, Ill.

Solmer Russell returned home Monday evening from a pleasant three weeks vacation.

Wm. Buel, who is handling potatoes here, unloaded over 500 bushels Monday. That is a pretty good days work.

Mr. John O'Reilly has been under the weather for a few days but he is better at the present writing. The bishop at this diocese will be here to confer a large class on Saturday, Nov. 4th.

Alto Kohr was a business caller in your city.

Mrs. Johnson of Wild Rose visited her son Noel from the morning train until the noon train.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson from near Big Bend arrived Thursday evening for a visit with their son, Dr. Jackson and family.

Theo. VanErt sold his farm of 80 acres in the town of Carson and is now looking around to buy another farm.

Will Hams of Grand Rapids worked on the section here last week but was taken sick and had to go home.

Mrs. John Junon came up from the Rapids Saturday evening, bringing home her father, Mr. Johnson, who has been quite sick down to her place. She returned Sunday evening.

Oliver Dailey of your city brought Rev. Johnson up Sunday afternoon and services were held in the Moravian church.

Leona LoMay, who is attending training school in the Rapids, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. LoMay.

Mr. Holm, father of Mrs. John Rayome and a former resident of the town of Rudolph, is seriously ill at his home in Grand Rapids and is not expected to live.

SIGEL

Julius Foreland, who has been employed in Minnesota for the past two years, has returned here to spend the winter at home.

The dance held at the Fogg home on Sunday night was largely attended and a good time in the report.

It is reported that the merry wedding bells will soon be ringing in our little burg.

David Sharkey of Rudolph spent Sunday in our midst.

Julius Foreland is on the sick list. Frank Krysak has returned to his home in Milwaukee after a pleasant two weeks visit at the home of his brother-in-law, John Jagodzinski.

Wm. Kronholm of Merrill spent a few days of last week at the home of his mother, leaving on Monday for Grand Rapids, Michigan.

George Olegard of your city spent Sunday at the John Peterson home.

Mrs. Martha Burgeson is home from Duluth, Minn., where she has been a guest of relatives and friends the past two weeks.

Mrs. Alf. Carlson and daughter Tillie of Altona, visited at the Berg home the past week.

Leo Norstrom and Eric Grunstedt of your city spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Emanuel Kronholm departed Monday for Grand Rapids, Michigan, where she went to attend the wedding of her son William, who is to be married to Miss Emma Lundstrom of that place on Saturday, Oct. 14.

Miss Eva Peterson will leave for LaCrosse next week, where she will spend the winter.

Gust Nelson left last week for Almond where he will be employed for a length of time.

Sam Sabers has gone to Almond to work.

Eric Berg attended the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the State Bank of Vesper.

A New Magazine.

We are in receipt of Volume 1, No. 1 of Business Ethics Magazine, published at Milwaukee. It states that it is dedicated to the "upbuilding of local communities, the inculcation of the principles of honesty and fair dealing, and a relentless opposition to trade centralization."

The magazine is edited by Thomas J. Sullivan and Edgar T. Wheelock and contains some good articles and a number of nice illustrations. The subscription price is $1.50 per year.

School Board Proceedings.

Lincoln Building, Oct. 3, 1911. At a regular meeting of the Board of Education held October 2, 1911, the following commissioners were present: Chas. Warner, Wm. Taylor, Olof Beck, Nels. Mellick, Nels. Mellick, about commissioners, Hill, Phillos, Kalkog, Kalkog, Clapp, Bout and Juch.

May Remain in the District.

Marshfield Herald:—Congressman E. A. Morse of Antigo, representative of the old Tenth district, would have to move only about six miles to be a resident of the new Eighth district and then could become practically a candidate for re-election. It is learned that strictly on the G. T. some of his intimate friends have been urging him to buy a farm in the northeast corner of Marathon county, six miles or so from his present home, Antigo, and reside there. This would make it rather hard campaigning for the candidate already announced in the new Eighth district, for Mr. Morse has been in congress for years, is Progressive in politics and has always taken good care of his district. There has been a general feeling of regret among his friends that he was "left outside" in the 1911 re-appointment. A district always bounties to a certain extent by retaining an experienced representative in congress, and as Mr. Morse's political faith is acceptable to a great number of Republicans in the new district there is little doubt that he would give any other candidate a strong run.
